Devotes his attention exclusively to Chronic Diseases, especially those of the Throat and Lungs, and those which may produce or accompany Lung Disease; the most frequent of which, are affections of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels Spleen, Kidneys, Heart Diseases, Scrofula and Skin Diseases, Female Complaints, and other ailments which vitiate the blood, and cause debility.

The System of Treatment pursued by Dr. Sykes includes the use of Medicated Inhalations, together with Tonic and Cleansing Medicines of unsurpassed efficacy, conjoined with Hygienic Measures and Mechanical Remedies, of inestimable value.

This treatment restores the strength, cleanses the blood, removes irritation from diseased organs, and is often blessed in the recovery of cases deemed hopeless.

ASTHMA CURED.

PITTSBURGH, PA., No. 204 LIBERTY ST., }
March 16th, 1866. }

Dr. J. W. SYKES—Dear Sir—In October, 1864, I consulted you for severe Asthma and Bronchitis, which I had from childhood. The Phthisic was so severe at times that I could only get my breath at night by sitting up, having windows and doors opened. I was also much troubled with Dyspepsia. Three months before consulting you, I was so much reduced that my family physician said I could not live six months. As I am of a consumptive family, and was so much reduced you did not speak very confidently of my recovery, but thought I might be benefitted and my life prolonged—I placed myself under your care and improved rapidly till my health was entirely restored, and I have since remained entirely well of my old ailments, and in good health every way. Yours, respectfully,

MARY L. MCCANDLESS.

Persons wishing to consult me by letter may address, DR. J. W. SYKES, 191 Penn street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The Peabody banquet at Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York, on Friday night last, to General and Mrs. Grant, and the Trustees of the Southern Educational Fund, was a grand affair. Mr. Peabody occupied the centre of the north table, with Admiral Farragut on his left and Mrs. Grant on his right. General Grant, Mrs. Farragut and Robert Winthrop were the vis-a-vis of Mr. Peabody, Admiral Farragut and Mrs. General Grant. Among the guests were Governor Aiken, of South Carolina; Governor Graham, of North Carolina, General Anderson; Governor Clifford; Bishop McIlvain; Robert Winthrop; Governor Fish; Mr. Astor; A. T. Stewart; Mr. Bancroft, and the wives of a number of these, besides other ladies, were present. Mr. Peabody made a short speech, and gave "Our Country, Our Whole Country, Its Chief Magistrate, Its Congress, Its Army and Navy, and the Commanders of them both, who are with us here this evening." He was interrupted here by applause and by the band playing national airs, when after their conclusion he added: "The country in which I have long lived and prospered, and its honored and beloved Queen." Speeches were made by Robert Winthrop, Geo. Bancroft and others. Resolutions were adopted expressive of gratitude to Mr. Peabody for his princely donation.

The Winter Garden Theatre, New York, took fire on Saturday morning, the flames communicating to the Tremont House and Southern Hotel, adjoining, belonging to the Lafarge establishment. Edwin Booth and James S. Clarke were the lessees, the former having just concluded a highly successful engagement as Shylock. He lost his entire wardrobe, valued at from $60,000 to $100,000. It includes many family jewels, some of which belonged to his father. He was not insured. Loss on theatre effects about $60,000. The damage to the Southern Hotel is estimated at $15,000.

Inhabitants of Alabama living a distance from the railroad, it is stated, are dying of starvation, and unless relief reaches them, the whole range of counties in the Sand Mountain section will be depopulated. The recent floods destroyed over 3,000 bushels of corn and a large amount of food, sent by the New York Relief Association to the sufferers.

The extent of the failure of Robinson & Ogden, of New York, is exaggerated, the amount of liabilities being stated at $2,000,000. The firm had not been dealers in Government securities to any extent for more than a year, and their losses are reported as arising from speculative transactions in stocks and gold. It is the belief that their losses will not exceed $200,000.

The first number of a new paper, called the Telegraph Journal, has made its appearance in New York.

[BY STEAMER.]

NEW YORK, March 23.—The steamer Australian brings Liverpool advices to the 9th, and Queenstown to the 10th inst. The Fenian movement was dying. Wherever the Fenians appeared they were promptly faced by troops and constabulary, and at once dispersed.

The London Times urges the arrest of every semi-American who may be found spreading treason among the people.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: This outbreak justifies all the apprehensions expressed in this journal three weeks ago: namely, that in a country like Ireland 5,000 or 6,000 rebels divided into different bands, and acting on a plan like the Polish insurrection, may harrass and fatigue five times that number of troops, and keep the country in a state of revolt for almost an indefinite time.

The Cork Examiner, of the 9th, says: The insurrection which on Thursday seemed all but suppressed, has, in one direction, begun to assume a serious aspect. In Limerick and Tipperary the Fenians have been permitted to assemble in large bodies, and the slopes of Gaitis were yesterday occupied by the insurgent force, believed to muster several thousand. It is not anticipated their temerity will go to the length of risking an encounter with the troops. They have no means of carrying on offensive warfare, and an attack on the force which occupies the line of railway would simply entail slaughter upon the insurgents.

So far from being able to assume the offensive, the rebels could not make opposition in the mountains for an hour against a determined attempt to dislodge them; but the fact of men being collected, however imperfectly armed or trained, is certain to amount to danger, and the existence of this force will, we fear, keep alive the movement in other places where it was dying out. Beyond this, danger does not extend, for even if no attempt should be made to disperse the insurgents, their entire want of supplies will render it impossible to hold together long. Rumors, however, are current that we have not seen the worst of the insurrection. Throughout yesterday a sense of insecurity widely prevailed, not only in this county, but in Waterford and Kerry, which hitherto had remained comparatively tranquil. Every one who can possibly quit the country districts is coming for security into towns. It is impossible to say what may not occur, for we are dealing with a movement not to be judged by the rules of ordinary common sense; but after the experience of the past few days, after the uninterrupted disaster that has befallen the insurgents wherever they have come in contact with the police or soldiers, even under the most favorable circumstances, we can hardly imagine how sane men could continue to delude themselves with the hope of future success. Much of the panic that prevails is, we will not say unreasonable, but unfounded. The entire north of Ireland and west of Ireland remains tranquil. In this county the movement has ceased to be formidable. Kerry and Waterford are tranquil, and the only points at which danger exists is where the Fenians are collected in the neighborhood of Gallis and where the military force in their front is amply sufficient for any emergency.

ARTEMUS WARD.

The remains of Artemus Ward have been temporarily placed in the vault at Kansal Green Cemetery, London, whence, in accordance with his desire, they will be conveyed to America. For nine days before his death he was quite insensible. By his will he leaves the bulk of his property to his mother, and his love for children is shown by the extraordinary number of legacies to persons of tender age. The property bequeathed to his mother is at her death to revert in trust to Horace Greeley, to be applied to the formation of an asylum for aged and decayed printers.

The Second Military District—Gen. Sickles' Order Assuming Command.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 23.—General Sickles publishes to-morrow an order assuming the command of the second district. The order says: In the execution of my duty as Commanding General, to maintain the security of the inhabitants in their persons and property, to suppress insurrections, disorder and violence, and to punish or cause to be punished all disturbers of the public peace and criminals, local tribunals will be permitted to take jurisdiction of and try offenders, excepting only such as may, by order of the commanding general, be referred to a commission or other military tribunal for trial. Civil officers are hereby authorized to continue the exercise of their proper functions, and will be respected and obeyed by the inhabitants. Whenever any civil officer, magistrate or Courts, neglect or refuse to perform an official act properly required of such tribunal or officer, whereby due and rightful security to person or property shall be endangered, the case shall be reported by post commanders to these headquarters. Post commanders will cause to be arrested persons charged with the commission of crimes and offenses, and when civil authorities fail to arrest and bring such offenders to trial, will hold the accused in custody for trial by a military commission, provost court, or other tribunal organized pursuant to orders from these headquarters. Arrests by military authority will be reported promptly. Charges preferred will be accompanied by the evidence on which they are founded. The commanding General, desiring to preserve tranquility and order by means and agencies most congenial to the people, solicits the zealous and cordial co-operation of the civil officers in the discharge of their duties, and the aid of all good citizens in preventing conduct tending to disturb the peace, or to the end that occasion may seldom arise for the exercise of military authority in the matters of ordinary civil administration.

The commanding General earnestly commends to the people and the authorities of North and South Carolina unreserved obedience to the authority now established, and the diligent consideration and impartial execution of the laws enacted for their good government.

FORTIETH CONGRESS.

President's Veto of the Supplemental Reconstruction Bill.

IT IS PASSED OVER THE VETO.

New York Custom House Frauds.

THE QUESTION OF ADJOURNMENT.

WASHINGTON, March 23, 1867.

SENATE.

REGISTRY OF CHILDREN.

Mr. HARLAN reported a joint resolution providing for the registry of children in the District of Columbia between six and eighteen years of age, also of the number of schools and teachers, to be reported to the next Congress. Passed.

SALE OF VESSELS TO BELLIGERENTS.

The Senate refused Mr. CHANDLER'S request to take up the bill authorizing the sale of ships to any foreign government at peace with the United States, if the transaction is purely commercial.

MISSISSIPPI LEVEES.

Mr. RAMSEY introduced a joint resolution directing the Secretary of War to cause an examination of the levees of the Mississippi river from the mouth of the Ohio to the Gulf of Mexico, cost of repairs or reconstruction, &c. Referred to the Committee on Commerce.

CULTURE OF FOREST TREES.

Mr. COLE introduced a bill to promote forest tree culture on the plains. Referred to the Committee on Agriculture.

THE MINT LAWS.

Mr. CONNESS introduced a resolution requesting the Secretary of the Treasury to communicate any information he may have relative to any proposed change in the mint laws of the United States on the subject of refining gold and silver, and public policies incident thereto. Adopted.

CLAIMS OF COLORED TROOPS.

Mr. WILSON called up the bill in relation to the collection of money due to colored soldiers, sailors and marines. It provides that all check and treasury certificates due colored soldiers or sailors, or their legal representatives, now residing in any State in which slavery existed in 1860, shall be paid to the Commissioner of the Freemen's Bureau, who is made responsible for the custody and delivery to the proper persons.

Mr. SHERMAN offered an amendment, which was agreed to, that all money held and disbursed under this act shall be held and disbursed under the laws regulating the disbursing officers of the army. The bill passed.

TELEGRAPH RIGHT OF WAY.

Mr. RAMSEY called up the bill to grant to the American Telegraph Company of New York the right of way and privilege to buy land and operate a submarine telegraph cable on the Atlantic coast of the United States, and to establish telegraphic communication between the United States and Europe by way of Bermuda and Azores islands. Passed.

ELECTIVE FRANCHISE BILL.

Mr. WILSON introduced a bill providing that there shall be no denial of elective franchise to any male citizen of the United States by any State on account of color, race, or previous condition, anything in the Constitution or laws to the contrary notwithstanding. Ordered to be printed.

SOLDIERS' BOUNTY BILL.

Mr. WILSON introduced a bill providing that the provisions of the bill of July 28th, 1866, relating to additional bounties to enlisted soldiers, &c., shall be applicable to drafted men, seamen of the navy, and marines enlisted for corresponding periods. Referred to the Military Committee.

INDIAN TRUST FUNDS.

Mr. THAYER introduced a Joint Resolution forbidding the removal or relocation of any public money or funds held in trust for any Indian tribe for such purposes, unless specifically authorized by law or treaty stipulation. Referred to Committee, on Indian Affairs.

CONCURRENCE WITH THE HOUSE.

The Senate concurred in the House amendments to the bill exempting from importation duty works of art for presentation, &c.

NEW YORK CUSTOM HOUSE TESTIMONY.

The testimony taken by the Committee of the House on the New York Custom House frauds and transmitted to the Senate, affecting certain members of this body, was taken from the table.

Messrs. PATTERSON and DOOLITTLE defended themselves from the charges made against them.

Mr. HOWE expressed the belief that the charges against his colleague were without foundation and of a most unjust character.

After considerable debate the testimony was referred to the Judiciary Committee, who were instructed to prosecute the investigation and send for persons and papers.

THE PRESIDENT'S VETO.

On motion of Mr. TRUMBULL, the Senate proceeded to consider the supplementary reconstruction bill and the President's veto thereon.

The vote resulted: Yeas, 40; nays, 7, namely, Messrs. Buckalew, Davis, Dixon, Doolittle, Norton, Patterson, (Tennessee,) Saulsbury.

So the bill having received two-thirds of the votes of those present, was passed.

ADJOURNMENT RESOLUTION.

Mr. TRUMBULL offered a concurrent resolution that the two Houses adjourn on Tuesday next, at noon, to the first Monday of December.

Mr. DRAKE moved to amend by inserting, instead of "first Monday in December," "Tuesday, 15th of October." The amendment was rejected—19 against 28.

Mr. MORRILL, of Vt., moved to amend by inserting "first Monday of November." Rejected—18 against 27.

Mr. SUMNER moved as an amendment to adjourn till June then, unless otherwise ordered, till December. Lost—14 against 31.

Mr. CHANDLER moved an executive session. Lost.

Mr. YATES opposed the resolution.

After further debate the resolution was adopted—29 against 16.

The Senate then adjourned till Monday.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

THE PATENT OFFICE.

Mr. MOORE introduced a resolution to increase the force of the Patent office, authorizing additional examiners when necessary, to the number of four for each class, and a solicitor of the Patent office. Passed.

CONCURRENCE WITH THE SENATE.

The Senate amendment to the House joint resolution, providing for importation duty free for objects of art imported for presentation to the Government, State Governments or Municipal Corporations, was concurred in.

PRESIDENT'S VETO OF THE SUPPLEMENTARY RECONSTRUCTION BILL.

Colonel Moore, the President's private Secretary, appeared and delivered the veto message on the supplementary reconstruction bill. The message having been read, Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, moved the previous question, which was seconded, and the House proceeded to vote on the question "shall the bill be passed, the objections of the President to the contrary notwithstanding?" The vote resulted—Yeas, 114; nays, 25. So the bill was passed and sent to the Senate.

THE QUESTION OF ADJOURNMENT—THE IMPEACHMENT MATTER.

Mr. BLAINE offered a concurrent resolution that when the House adjourn next Tuesday it be to November 11.

A debate followed, in the course of which Mr. BLAINE said: "It is settled that on any showing, and bad a man as Andy Johnson is conceeded to be, and whatever he may have done, the people do not believe it worth while to upturn the foundation of the Government by having the extraordinary spectacle here of getting him out of office in that way."

Mr. STEVENS said: Within the last two weeks one of the largest meetings ever held in the interior of Pennsylvania was held in Schuylkill, imperatively demanding impeachment. He believed the people expected the House to examine into the matter whether there was just cause to impeach Andrew Johnston. He intimated that Mr. Blaine had not entertained his previous views against impeachment, until after the election of the present presiding officer of the Senate, and referred to the remark of Mr. Blaine, that he preferred the present Executive to remain in office rather than have the shilly-shally ways of the Senator from Ohio (Mr. Wade) introduced into the position.

Mr. BLAINE denied having made the statement, though he admitted having expressed a preference for Mr. Fessenden in case of the removal of the President.

Mr. RIDGE expressed anxiety for the adjournment. He understood the gentleman to wish Congress to remain in session to impeach the President because he made removals on political grounds, while the Senate were rejecting appointments for the same reason.

A discussion occurred, which at one moment threatened to be unpleasant between Messrs. Eldridge and Garfield, in reference to the latter's statement that he obtained his information in regard to the President's anxiety for adjournment from a gentleman on the Democratic side. This idea Mr. Garfield subsequently explained to mean simply that he became aware of that feeling just as he was aware from the light that it was day.

Mr. BOUTWELL expressed the wish that Mr. Blaine's resolution should lay over till Tuesday or Wednesday.

Mr. WILSON, of Illinois, favored the resolution of adjournment, that the Judiciary Committee might have time to investigate the impeachment matter more thoroughly.

After further debate, Mr. BENJAMIN moved to table the resolution. Negatived—59 against 73.

The previous question was then seconded, and the House, without disposing of the subject, adjourned.

WASHINGTON.

The President's Last Veto.

REBEL SENATOR FROM ARKANSAS.

He Will Appeal to Supreme Court.

THE CHOLERA IN IRELAND.

The Trial of Surratt Delayed.

WASHINGTON, March 23, 1867.

THE LAST VETO.

The President's veto message of the Supplementary Reconstruction Bill was read in the House immediately after it was received. The President objects, generally, to the provisions of the bill, and especially to those relating to registry, no person being permitted to vote whose name is not recorded. He says as the preliminaries to holding conventions are under martial law, and conducted by commanding officers, and as there is no appeal from the registry, those in control of it may so act as to prevent the election of such delegates as may faithfully present the wishes and sentiments of the States in the Conventions to be called to frame new constitutions. No consideration could induce him to give his approval to such an election law. He speaks of the reconstruction bill and this supplementary one as establishing under martial law military coercion, and as working political disfranchisement. He then refers to the remarks of Daniel Webster against military governments founded on force, and mock elections, and takes occasion to reiterate his views heretofore expressed in relation to the restoration of the Union, expressing the hope that eventually all the States will be admitted to enjoy their rights under the Constitution.

AN EX-REBEL SENATOR.

A. H. Garland, ex-member of the Confederate Congress, has arrived at Washington. He is one of the Senators elect from Arkansas. As it is certain any application he may make for admission to the Senate will be rejected, it is understood he intends carrying the matter before the Supreme Court.

SURRATT'S TRIAL.

Surratt will not probably be tried before the next term of the Court in June. The prisoner and his counsel are anxious for a speedy trial, but for some unassigned reason his case is thus delayed.

THE CHOLERA IN IRELAND.

The Secretary of State has received information from the Consul at Queenstown, Ireland, that the cholera has prevailed in that section to some extent all winter. At White Gate, a small village in Queenstown harbor, eight cases had occurred during the previous week. The dispatch is dated February 14th.

IMPEACHMENT TESTIMONY.

The Times' special says: General Howard testified before the Judiciary Committee yesterday concerning the restoration of abandoned rebel property. He had himself prepared the original orders for the restoration, and submitted them to the President for approval. When they were returned to him he found them so much modified and changed as to establish a policy altogether different from the one he had recommended.

The Tribune's special says: General Saxton, in his testimony before the Judiciary Committee concerning the restoration of property to rebels in South Carolina, said he acted upon direct orders issued through the War Department by the President of the United States. The amount of this property was very large, as it consisted of houses, lands, etc., which had been abandoned by the rebels. All the property in the hands of the Treasury agents, seized during the rebellion, and which had been turned over to General Saxton, was surrendered to the rebels by order of the President. The Committee have gone very fully into this question, and the evidence thus far elicited shows that hundreds of millions of dollars worth of property have been turned over to leading rebels without any warrant of law.

FROM SOUTH AMERICA.

American Ships Burned—President Prefect at Panama Shot—Excitement in Bogota—The Argentine Revolution—A Bloody Engagement—Conspiracy at Buenos Ayres.

NEW YORK, March 24.—By the Rising Star we have Panama advices to the 13th.

Three American ships had lately took fire at Valparaiso and burnt to the water's edge. The George Raines, February 9th, the Flora McDonald and George the Fifth, February 16th. It is suspected they were fired by the crews.

The Acting President Prefect Juancho Diaz was shot in Panama, on the 10th, by a drunken man named Major. The wound was a serious one.

The steamer Raino, formerly the R. R. Cuyler, had reached Santa Martha from New York. This is the vessel seized here on suspicion of being a Chillian privateer.

Much excitement existed in Bogota, owing to the differences between President Mosquera and the Congress, the latter refusing to acknowledge the loans made by the former.

Advices from Sydney to January 30th, and Wellington, February 6th, had reached Panama.

The ship William Cole, from San Francisco, had arrived at Sydney. The harvest was over, and the yield of cereals was larger than ever before known. Large quantities are being exported, and the market offers no inducement to shippers in Chili or California.

The aborigines in New Zealand are giving much trouble.

Chili advices state that Peru has never thought of peace on the basis proposed by the mediating powers.

The latest advices respecting the Argentine revolution are important. A division under Felipe Saa, after a bloody engagement lasting two hours, was defeated by General Pannero, at Los Loras, with a loss of 300 killed and many wounded. Two other divisions undertook to avenge this defeat and were themselves routed, meeting with much heavier losses than those suffered by Saa. Pannero quickly continued his retreat to form a junction with Mitre.

The Herald's Rio Janeiro correspondence, dated 24th ult., says nothing was transpiring beyond an occasional bombardment of Carapapity by the Paraguayns and some picket firing along the line. Reinforcements continue to leave Rio Janeiro. Two steamers with Argentine and Oriental troops on board, had exploded and quite a number of lives were lost, and an Argentine steamer had been run down the Mendosa. The rebellion was nearly suppressed. United States intervention was talked of, but not generally expected.

A conspiracy to murder the members of the government in Buneos Ayers had been discovered and conspirators seized.

St. Domingo advices to the 11th instant state that the Boez party had been crushed, and the republic was quiet.

The proposed treaty with the United States for the bay of Samara is likely to elicit a spirited debate in Congress.

FROM DELAWARE.

Adjournment of the Legislature—Constitutional Amendment Rejected—Impartial Suffrage Movement.

WILMINGTON, March 23.—The Delaware Legislature adjourned last evening.

Among the important legislation is the passage of a bill to equalize punishment, regardless of color, the rejectment of the Constitutional Amendment, and the passage of the amendatory School Law.

There is a strong feeling among the Republicans of this State in favor of impartial suffrage, and a movement has been inaugurated in favor of it.

The Commercial of this city contains an editorial article strongly urging the gift of the ballot to the colored citizens of Delaware.

The Fenian Congress and the Proposed Canadian Raid.

NEW YORK, March 23.—The Fenian Senate continued in session the greater part of to-day, and will probably not adjourn before Tuesday. Nothing positive transpired regarding the deliberations, but it is well understood that preparations for the coming Canadian campaign occupied the principal part of attention. As yet, nothing has been accomplished looking to the consolidation of the two sections of the organization.

Judgment Day in Court—The Case of Jacob Baltzell—A Batch of Thieves Sentenced—Woods Run Perjury Case—A Proposed Exile.

In the Criminal Court, Saturday, Judges Sterrett and Mellon on the bench, after the transaction of other usual business, a number of individuals were sentenced for offending the law, as follows:

THE CASE OF JACOB BALTZELL.

The GAZETTE readers must be familiar with the main features of the case of Jacob Baltzell, the principal actor in a scene of blood enacted in Allegheny a short time since; but in noting the judgment of the Court we will be pardoned for further reference to it, especially as in the final disposition at least some explanation is afforded concerning the conduct of the would-be murderer, hitherto by some considered inexplicable. On the evening of the 3d of January last Baltzell came to the city, from Wheeling, his place of residence, went to the house of the parents of his wife, in the Second ward, Allegheny city, and there attempted to kill his wife, and her father and mother. He found his wife sick a-bed, in a room in the second story, and after having some words with her (there being no third party present at the time) drew from his breast a navy revolver, which he discharged at her as she fled from him toward the door of the room, and firing a second shot as she leaped down the stairway into her father's arms. He followed after, and meeting her father, Henry Streng, fired a third shot at him, and a fourth at his mother-in-law. His wife was severely wounded in the shoulder, and her father in the left side, narrowly escaping with his life. The mother escaped injury. After passing out of the house Baltzell returned, in searching for his wife, but failed to find her, having in the confusion created concealed herself in a closet. Baltzell was captured not a great distance from the house, with the murderous weapon in his possession. Week before last he was arraigned for trial on two indictments for felonious shooting, in attempting to kill his wife and father-in-law, and put in the plea of "not guilty;" but after the testimony of his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Streng had been given, that plea was withdrawn and the plea of guilty entered. Baltzell having been brought into Court for sentence, Mr. Swartzwelder, Esq., his counsel, expressed a desire to call some witnesses to show the character of the prisoner's mind upon leaving Wheeling on the day of the shooting, and also to read some testimonials as to his character and standing in the community where lived. A sister and brother-in-law testified that Baltzell was much troubled in mind concerning his wife and the action of her parents in preventing him getting possession of her. Mr. Swartzwelder stated that persons were present when the case was on trial who would have testified that Baltzell acted strangely on the day (in January) he left Wheeling for Pittsburgh, and that he had expressed himself as being troubled about his wife. Letters from different parties were read, giving the defendant the highest character, the writers having known him from boyhood, whilst in the army, and since the war. He enlisted in 1861, serving till the close of the rebellion, and for his soldierly conduct was promoted from the ranks to a captaincy in the 2d Virginia veteran rigiment. Among the papers presented was a petition, addressed to Judge Sterrett, and signed by Court officers and other citizens of Wheeling, praying for leniency in behalf of Baltzell, who was referred to in highly commendatory terms. Mr. Swartzwelder feelingly and eloquently referred to the peculiar features of the case. The plea of guilty had been entered by his advice, but in thus pleading it did not follow that Baltzell admitted a cold-blooded, murderous intent in doing what he did. While the law did not, and doubtless wisely, recognize the degree of moral insanity under which defendant must have been laboring at the time he attempted to take the life of his wife and her father, still the circumstances and the surroundings of the case were such, thought Mr. S., as should demand mitigation of punishment. Baltzell had conceived an attachment which resulted in a clandestine marriage—this attachment was intense—and finding, after repeated efforts, that he could not get possession of his wife, became distracted at the idea of losing her, and in this phrenzied state of mind had sought to take her life rather than to allow her to exist and not be all his own. Thos. M. Marshall, Esq., retained as counsel for the prosecution, had not intended saying anything, but the matter having been referred to, he would say that the parties prosecuting entertained no hard or unkind feeling against the prisoner, and their action had been solely to secure protection. He (Mr. M.) had given the case a great deal of thought, and could come to no other conclusion than that the prisoner, in his excess of affection for his wife, became desperate at what he deemed interferance with his rights, and acted as he did regardless of consequences. While Mr. M. would not counsel otherwise than that the demands of justice should be complied with, he believed that leniency shown the prisoner would meet with general approbation.

The prisoner was called forward, and saying that he had a statement to make, the Court allowed him to proceed. He seemed much affected and there was an unmistakable air of candor and truthfulness in what he said. He married his wife at Reno, in the oil regions, in June, 1866, having made her acquaintance in September, 1865. The marriage, he said, was with her mother's knowledge and consent, but at her request the father was kept ignorant of the matter. After the marriage his wife visited him at Wheeling, where he resided with his mother, who died since his incarceration. His wife's father taking ill, she went to attend upon him, her parents having in the meantime removed from Reno to Allegheny City. He visited her at different times at her father's, and the subject of her going to live with him was discussed. Her father first learned of the marriage in November last. Mrs. Streng, the mother-in-law, had difficulties with Baltzell, (as he stated,) called him hard names, attempted on one occasion to strangle him, and to bite him in the face, and he supposed would have succeeded in biting a piece out, had her false teeth not given way. Mr. Streng took advice concerning the marriage certificate, and talked of having the marriage annulled as fraudulent, intimating that Baltzell's designs were dishonorable, of which Baltzell was informed by letter from his wife. He came to the city, had further difficulty with the Streng family, took advice himself concerning the marriage certificate, and finally returned to Wheeling greatly discouraged at his failure to get his wife to go with him. What had transpired so affected his mind that he could not work, and he quit his situation. He determined to see his wife again and came to the city. Anticipating trouble with his father-in-law, as he stated, he took the pistol. In the conversation, which took place in the bedroom, he said his wife became very angry, as he also did. He had no clear conception of what took place subsequently. Upon returning into the house (after the shooting,) and going to the side of the bed where his wife had been, he realized what he had done, again left, and attempted to take his own life, the pistol missing fire just as the officers overtook him.

The above is the substance of Baltzell's statement to the Court. It will be recollected that his wife testified to his having told her that if he could not enjoy life with her no one else should. In regard to his attempt to take his own life, after attempting that of his wife and parents, (which circumstance has not heretofore been mentioned in connection with the case,) the statement seems to be corroborated in the fact that when the pistol was taken from him two loads remained in it, the caps for which were exploded.

Judge Sterrett prefaced the sentence of the law with a few well expressed observations. He thought the prisoner's own statement as to preparing himself for expected trouble bore heaviest against him. His affection for his wife seemed very strong and to continue unabated, and although he might have felt annoyed at not being allowed to possess her, which was his right, and which the law gave him, still it must have been with a wicked heart that he armed himself with the pistol. The Court was impressed with what had been said and shown in his favor, but justice demanded his severe punishment for the offences he had committed and to which he had pleaded guilty. Appeals for clemency, if the case was considered a proper one for its exercise, should be made to the Executive of the State. His Honor then sentenced Baltzell to undergo an imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a term of three years and six months upon each indictment, seven years in all, the sentence last pronounced to take effect after the expiration of the first.

A BATCH OF THIEVES SENTENCED.

The Court next paid its respects to Wm. Lomax, a colored young man, who, in leaving his boarding house in the Sixth ward, took with him a lot of clothing belonging to a fellow-boarder. He denied his guilt, said that ten others slept in the same room with him, any one of whom might as well have "took de tings," but it so happened that he was "de most misfortunate one." William's explanation was not very lucid, if he meant to impress the Court with his innocence. His doom is two years in the Penitentiary.

A like sentence was imposed on Charles Palmer Coats, whose most recent offense was the stealing of a pair of boots. At the last term he was punished for feloniously appropriating other people's goods, the plea of drunkenness securing him a jail sentence.

Henry Miller stole a coil of rope from a flat boat of which he had been left in charge. He had disposed of one-half of the rope and was carrying home the remainder at the time of his arrest. In consideration of his having been recommended to mercy by the jury, the Court sentenced him to jail for three months.

Patrick Haughey and James Conley, alias Brown, took a trunk, not their own, containing ladies wearing apparel, from the steamboat Chieftain. The only explanation given for so doing was the old story, "guilty, but drunk." The jury having recommended Conley to mercy, the Court made a difference of six months in his favor, sentencing him to the penitentiary for one year, while Haughey's term in that institution was fixed at one year and six months.

Emma Clark was next disposed of. She had been indicted with George Waters, colored, her reputed husband, for the larceny of clothing from a house at which they had been staying. At the trial she put in a plea of guilty, Waters allowing his case to go to the jury. He was convicted, and a motion for a new trial is pending. The Court had learned somewhat of the history of Emma. She had been a most wayward girl, had left a good home with her uncle, and had been going to the bad generally. It was not too late for her to redeem herself, and it was with this hope that the Court had determined to send her to the penitentiary instead of the county jail. She had nothing to say in her own behalf. Her term was fixed at one year.

Gustave Dott, aged twenty years, Henry Murta, sixteen years, and David Rigby, fifteen years, are three of the four boys concerned in robbing the stationery store of Mr. Aiken in the Chronicle building. Dott was also concerned in the larceny of a firkin of butter from the Sirwell House. He is a French boy, and had resided in Allegheny City for thirteen years. In 1865, after returning from the army, he went with his father to France, and leaving his father there he returned alone to this country, arriving on December 13th. He had been but a few days in the city when he was arrested. As to his guilt, as well as that of his companions, no doubt existed, although counsel made some ado about forced confessions, obtained under oath and by starvation in the tombs. The Court expressed a willingness to allow counsel opportunity to ventilate such allegations, and intimated that cases should be tried before a jury not after verdict. Dott was sentenced to the Penitentiary for two years, and Rigby and Murta, whose parents live in the city, were consigned to the House of Refuge, with a hope for their reformation.

LIQUOR VENDERS SENTENCED.

M. Duncan, who keeps, or kept, a doggery on Pennsylvania avenue, was brought in on process to answer an indictment for selling liquor without license. He pleaded guilty, and it being the first time he was before the Court on such charge, he escaped imprisonment, being only sentenced to pay a fine of sixty dollars.

Mena Fluker, of Wylie street, Sixth ward, was in a similar fix, excepting that it was not her first offense. She protested that she only sold ale to accommodate her neighbors, and that this was the only means she had of supporting her two children. The Court said "accommodating" only her neighbors with ale did not mend the matter, and as for her children, she had better allow the authorities to support them than maintain them in the manner she had been doing. She was directed to pay a fine of fifty dollars, which she did.

PROPOSED TO EXILE HIMSELF.

Judge Sterrett had received a note from James Smith, a prisoner in the jail, in which he proposed to leave the State and remain absent from it for one year, rather than stay in jail any longer. James was sent for and his case inquired into. He had been in jail some five weeks, having been committed from the Mayor's office in default of bail to keep the peace, on complaint of one William Stewart, who had not thus far appeared to sustain the complaint. James said he had been stopping with Stewart at No. 72 Water street, and in answer to the inquiry of a girl with whom he was conversing, as to what he would do if he saw her going with Stewart, replied that she would not do so again, as he would put her and Stewart out of the way. For thus expressing himself he was arrested and had been in jail for the length of time stated, and rather than remain longer he proposed to exile himself. Although he made the threat, he did so playfully, not intending to execute it. The Court did not think the case a serious one, and released James, ordering that Stewart should pay the costs. He will be more careful in future in his conversation with "girls" concerning other "fellows."

THE WOODS RUN PERJURY CASE.

Thomas McCormick was convicted of perjury last week, in having falsely and maliciously sworn that Lewis Hilkey, tavern-keeper at Woods Run, in McClure township, had sold liquor on Sunday, January 13th. His counsel, on Saturday, filed a motion, and reasons for a new trial. The first reason is, that on another trial the defendant can produce after discovered evidence that the prosecutor, Hilkey, was prosecuted for selling liquor on Sunday before Justice R. H. Kerr, and that at the instance of his (Hilkey's) counsel, he was fined the penalty of fifty dollars, which he paid; second, that Hilkey threatened that if it required all the money he was worth, he would put McCormick in the Penitentiary; third, that at the time of making the information before Alderman Donaldson against Hilkey, for selling on Sunday, McCormick was not in a proper condition to be sworn. If these allegations can be substantiated, the Court will doubtless award a new trial.

This closes Saturday's chapter of Criminal Court business.

The Recent Murder in Washington County—A Citizen's Account of It.

We have already published very full particulars of the recent terrible murder in Washington county, but give place to the following account of it by a citizen of the vicinity, differing somewhat in the details from what has already appeared.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—On Monday evening the 18th inst, a most diabolical murder was committed near Sleiline's Mills, in Cecil township, Washington county. About 8 o'clock in the evening three incarnate devils visited the house of Mr. David Sproul, and butchered him for his money—the paltry sum of about one hundred and twenty dollars, and two silver watches. As Mr. Sproul went out of the door for some purpose, one of these devils stepped forward and asked him if he could direct him to the nearest station on the Railroad. He said yes, and very obligingly went with the stranger along the lane to a pair of bars near the barn, about 15 rods from the house, to show him the way across the fields to the township road. When they had gone about ten rods, two others came round the corner of the house and followed after. When at the bars they had knocked him down, and probably struck him when down, as there is a large pool of blood there, and a considerable quantity of hair sticking in the mud close by it. They then led him back to the house, one supporting him on each side. As he entered the door he was bleeding profusely about the face, and said to his maiden sister, (who is about fifty years of age, and the only person living with him,) "I am badly hurt." One of the villains then seized her by the arm, took her out of the house, and around it into the other house; took her up stairs and tied her hands behind her back; tied her feet together; laid her on the bed and strapped her tight to the bedstead; told her to tell where the money was or he would shoot her. She told him all she knew, and then he went to work ransacking. This one had his face blacked. He brought her out of the house as the others entered. She heard them beating her brother with the tongs. He halloed, and they said, "Give us your money, then." They continued to beat and cut him until life was extinct. Then these two black hearted fiends joined their black faced brother in the search for money. They then demanded hers. She said it was in the house from which they had brought her. (The two houses stand ten feet apart, a roof between them.) They went back to the place of murder, took her money, helped themselves to bread and cream, went to the spring and washed, then left—leaving Miss Sproul tied on the bed up stairs in one house, and the corpse of Mr. Sproul on the floor in the other. Thus things remained for twenty hours—until four o'clock in the evening of the next day, when a neighbor came in and found Miss Sproul tied on the bed. He cut her loose. She hastened to the other house in search of her brother, and there, O God! Such a scene as met her wondering gaze. As she entered the door, there lay the tongs, covered with blood and hair. The chairs, the table, the dishes, the walls, all sprinkled with blood, and the floor literally painted with it. From the centre could be traced a channel of blood to one end of the room, and there it stood a gory heap, so lately the heart's blood of her brother. As she turned her eye to the right, there he lay covered with bed clothes. When they were removed—O horror! of horrors!! No less than fifteen seperate and distinct gashes on his head and face; his skull split open; his windpipe and jugular veins cut; every inch covered with blood, and his clothing saturated with it. Here we drop the curtain—I ask, why this hellish deed? Mr. Sproul was a man sixty-five or seventy years of age and in feeble health. Any two men of ordinary muscular strength could have tied him without any risk of bodily harm. The only solution we can give is, that some of the party were known to Mr. Sproul, and when they discovered that fact, the only alternative was, murder or exposure.

The safest plan hereafter will be to shoot every stranger who comes to your door, between the hours of dark and daylight.

Our Legislature should pass a law making it the imperative duty of the Commissioners of every county in the Commonwealth to offer a reward of, say five thousand dollars, for the arrest and conviction of every murderer in it. There would then be some inducement to policemen to engage in the pursuit.

A CITIZEN.

Birmingham Stabbing Affair.—Chas. Carson, George Decker and George Breakiron, the parties alleged to have been concerned in the stabbing of Matthew Munn, in Birmingham, on Friday night, the 15th instant, had a hearing before Justice Salisbury, on Saturday, when the matter was further inquired into. It appearing that Munn was yet in a critical state from the wound he received, the magistrate refused bail for the accused, committing them for a further hearing to-day.

District Court.—This Court was in session on Saturday, but transacted no business worth reporting.

The New Police District Bill.

The following bill has been introduced into the State Legislature providing for the division of the city into four police districts and clothing the senior alderman of each with jurisdiction in cases of drunkenness disorderly conduct. Our correspondent at Harrisburg thinks the bill will go through to-morrow without any opposition:

AN ACT Dividing the City of Pittsburgh into Police Districts, and Relative to Drunkenness and Disorderly Conduct therein.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted, &c., That from and after the passage of this act, the city of Pittsburgh shall for the purposes of this act, be divided into four police districts, to be severally bounded as follows, namely: The First District by the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers, the centre of Grant street and the centre of Washington street produced to the Allegheny river. The Second District by the said produced line of Washington street, the centre of Liberty street produced to the city line, the city line and the Allegheny river. The Third District by the centre of Grant street, centre of Fifth street, the centre of Pennsylvania Avenue, the city line and the Monongahela river. The Fourth District to comprise that part of said city not contained within the boundaries of the first, second and third districts.

SEC. 2. That within the first district the Alderman acting in the Tenth ward under the oldest commission; within the second district the Alderman acting in the Fifth ward under the oldest commission, within the third district the Alderman acting in the Eighth ward under the oldest commission; and, within the fourth district the Alderman acting in the Sixth ward under the oldest commission shall have jurisdiction co-ordinate with the Mayor of said city in all cases of drunkenness and disorderly conduct occurring within the limits of said districts respectively.

SEC. 3. That immediately after the passage of this act the Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas shall certify to a Judge of said Court, from the record, the name of the Alderman acting within each of said wards under the oldest commission, who shall thereupon certify the same under the seal of the said Court, to the Alderman entitled to receive the same, which said Alderman shall thereupon be authorized and empowered to exercise the powers, and perform the acts herein provided for, which said power and authority shall be exercised by the said Alderman during the remainder of his term of office, and during such term or terms as he may be consecutively re-elected and commissioned, and when any vacancy shall occur the same shall be filled by the certificate of the Judge of said Court in the manner herein before provided.

SEC. 4. The said Alderman shall receive, in cases of drunkenness and disorderly conduct, the same fees as are now allowed by law in such cases.

SEC. 5. The said Aldermen shall each open and keep an account with the county of Allegheny, in which he shall debit or charge the said county with all costs in such cases which he is unable to collect, and shall place to the credit of said county all fines collected by him arising out of such cases; the said account shall be settled quarterly by said Alderman, and shall be verified by his oath. Should any quarterly balance be against the said county the same shall be cancelled and the county shall not be liable to pay any money to the said Alderman on account of such cases, all balances in favor of said county shall be paid quarterly at the time of said quarterly settlements.

SEC. 6. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

The Other Side.

A large portion of the usually valuable space of the Dispatch was taken up on Saturday with a statement purporting to give a true version of the recent descent made upon a house supposed to contain thieves, in Wilkinsburg, by the Mayor's police. We are not disposed to question the veracity of Mr. McQuade, at whose house the scene narrated by himself through the Dispatch took place, but the story certainly is very well drawn to place Clerk Nicholson, and the police accompanying him upon the excursion, in an awkward position. It is one sided and unjust. Mr. Nicholson called upon us yesterday and placed quite a different face upon the affair, and we believe his statement of facts will be received by all right thinking persons in preference to that given by our neighbor's informant. The descent was made about nine o'clock at night; some eight or ten men were in the house; none of them had retired; only three of the police gained admittance; they were outrageously beaten and abused; the clerk and police had no deadly weapons on their persons; the shots were all fired by the inmates with the exception of one, fired into the air by an officer from a pistol captured by him from one of the occupants while it was aimed at his heart; the descent was not unwarrantable. The clerk and police had no business to ask upon what grounds the warrant was issued, but it was their duty to arrest the parties named in it. A few more courageous, independent and correct officers like those managing that affair would prove a valuable acquisition to the police force, and all unprejudiced citizens will endorse them in like endeavors to bring alleged offenders to justice.

Smithson, Palmer & Co.

The above named firm, composed of young, energetic and well known business gentlemen, has succeeded T. A. McClelland & Co., in the great merchandize headquarters and auction bazaar, Nos. 55 and 57 Fifth street. The senior of this firm, Capt. Harry Smithson, has for some time been engaged in this extensive house and is thoroughly posted in the business, and is full of energy and enterprise. Mr. James S. Palmer has also been long recognised in the affairs of the emporium, and has had exclusive charge of the financial and accounting department for a long while past. He brings liberal experience with him as a business man and enjoys a large acquaintance in this section of the country. The remaining member of the firm, Mr. Thomas Phillips, is perhaps among the pioneers in the Eastern shoe business of the city, and has also been long connected with the house of McClelland & Co. He knows the trade thoroughly, and will continue his successful management of the immense boot and shoe traffic awarded this house. The new firm have our earnest wishes for their prosperity and success. The sales by auction and indeed, the general business of the store, will not be changed, and matters will go on in every department the same as usual. The late firm, which has gone extensively into a similar business in Philadelphia, established for this house a reputation throughout the country as one of Pittsburgh's greatest marts, and from our knowledge of the capacities and qualifications of the gentlemen composing the new firm, we can safely promise that the house will not deteriorate in their hands.

County Teachers' Association.

The Allegheny County Teachers' Association met on Saturday in Neville Hall. In the absence of the President, Prof. Squires occupied the chair.

Miss Eliza McHendry, from the Committee on queries, read an interesting report, answering in a very satisfactory maner seven queries relating to the teacher's work and about which information was desired. The lady exhibited a thorough knowledge of the topics discussed, and her conclusions met universal approval, as was indicated by a vote of thanks being tendered.

Rev. E. B. Snyder, who was engaged to deliver the address, was unavoidably absent.

Prof. J. R. Newell gave an interesting lecture on the methods to be pursued in producing good readers, commencing with the child when it lisps its first word, and cultivating the voice from that period to mature years. His suggestion on this point will prove of value to a large number of lady teachers having, as they do almost all of the children in our schools under their immediate training. The Professor then read several sentimental and humorous pieces with fine effect. We regard Prof. Newell as one of our most finished elocutionists. None can fail to be delighted with his performances.

The attendance was remarkably large. We noticed in the assembly many of our ablest and most successful teachers.

By T. A. McClelland—Auction Sales.

The following Auction Sales will be held during the coming week, by Smithson, Palmer & Company:

Wednesday, at residence 103 Pennsylvania avenue, furniture and household goods.

Also, the grocery and produce store, No. 50 Federal street, Allegheny.

Thursday, at the Masonic Hall Auction Rooms, and at No. 22 Wylie street; dry goods and trimming store and furniture.

Also, at residence corner of Morgan and Robinson streets, Allegheny; furniture and household goods.

Friday, at the residence 182 Penn street; furniture and house hold goods.

Saturday, McFarland's Cigar store, Smithfield street.

Also, at residence No. 155 Second street; elegant furniture, carpets and household goods.

T. A. MCCLELLAND.

Lizzie Roll was arrested on Saturday on board an eastern bound train, on a charge of fornication. It is alleged that she has been living on too intimate terms with a married gentleman, who, in her company, was about to desert his wife and little ones. The injured wife brought the information and spoiled the trip. Lizzie is in the tombs awaiting a hearing.

Destructive Fire in South Pittsburgh—Loss Estimated at $100,000.

Sunday morning, shortly after eight o'clock, a fire broke out in the Washington foundry and machine shop of Robinson, Rea & Co., in South Pittsburgh, located between Carson street and the river, resulting in the complete destruction of the three story brick building, known as the machine shop, and involving a very heavy loss. The fire originated in the second story in some unaccountable manner, and spread very rapidly throughout the building. The first story was occupied as a machine shop, and in a portion of the second some new machinery was placed a short time since, the remainder of this story, and also the entire third being used as a storage for patterns, which were destroyed, alone involving a heavy loss, as a very large sum will be required to replace them. Twenty-two thousand dollars worth of machinery, under contract to be finished April 1st, and very nearly completed, is among the ruins, and more or less damaged. Some of the tools and machinery in the establishment were very valuable and of the finest description, and the amount of damage sustained can only be determined upon inspection after removal of the ruins.

The greatest efforts were required on the part of the firemen from the city and adjoining boroughs, and the citizens, to prevent the flames from spreading to the saw-mill of Mr. George Kim, adjacent on the west, and other buildings of the works on the north and east, thus preventing the conflagration being more disastrous. In the building destroyed some sixty or seventy hands were employed, who will thus be thrown out of employment for some time.

The loss is roughly estimated at $100,000, although some place it at a higher figure. It is, we understand, fully covered by insurance in local offices. The foundry, blacksmith shop, storing rooms for rolling mill patterns, and a new shop in process of construction, were all saved, and the business of the firm will be continued with but slight interruption.

The origin of the fire, while it is thought not to have been the work of an incendiary, can scarcely be accounted for, as far as we can learn, in any other way. In the apartment where it was first discovered there was but little, if any fire, on Saturday, or during Saturday night, and but a short time before it broke out, one of the engineers went to the second story for some purpose, noticing nothing unusual. But he had scarcely reached his residence, in the vicinity of the works, ere the alarm was given.

The works have been in existence for some thirty or thirty-five years, were for a long time under the direction of the firm of Robinson & Minnis, then under Robinson, Minnis & Miller, the present firm coming into possession recently.

The Court Hours Question.

Saturday morning, in the Court of Common Pleas, John M. Kirkpatrick, Esq., on behalf of a committee of members of the bar, presented the memorial, adopted a week since, urging upon the Courts the propriety of uniform hours in holding their sessions, by making a continuous daily session from ten o'clock A. M., till three P. M. The memorial was signed by over eighty members of the bar. After remarks favoring the proposition from Messrs. Kirkpatrick, Col. R. B. Roberts, John H. Hampton, D. W. Bell, M. W. Acheson, D. D. Bruce, and A. M. Watson, and none in opposition thereto, the memorial passed in the hands of the Court, and the statement was made that an expression of the views of the whole bench might be expected at an early day. Those of the reportorial fraternity who can forego indulgence in mid-day dinners will vote "aye" on the question, and so let ours be recorded.

Concerning Dr. Sykes.

The Hon. George H. Thurston, President of the Pittsburgh Board of Trade, remarks as follows, in the August number of the Quarterly Trade Circular:

A departure is made from the custom of this publication to call the attention of our readers to the special advertisement of Dr. J. W. Sykes. Although devoting his time and skill to an especial group of diseases, Dr. Sykes is not one of a class known as itinerant physicians, but has for many years been a permanent resident in Pittsburgh. Personally known to the editor of the Circular for a number of years as a man of integrity, conscientious in the following of his profession, the habit of this paper has been waived, to ask the attention of individuals to the testimonials to Dr. Sykes' skill, and to say that he would not knowingly publish anything but facts.

A Drunken Merchant Starts Burglars.

A very drunk citizen, returning to his home at an unseasonable hour on Saturday night, stumbled into an open cellar door at Richardson & Co's. jewelry house, corner of Fifth and Market streets, and was precipitated into the cellar. He cried "watch, watch," lustily, and the police found him all bruised and battered coiled up and packed away at the foot of the stairs. Yesterday burglars tools were found in the cellar, and it is presumed that they had forced the cellar door and were at work boring their way up into the store when the drunken merchant fel. into the cellar and frightened them off. A fortunate drunk for Richardson & Co.

Killed.—Mr. Joseph Aurentz, a workman in the Keystone Bridge Works, in the Ninth ward, was instantly killed on Saturday afternoon, while at work, by a falling beam striking him. He was an industrious, worthy citizen. After an inquest the body was removed to Mr. George Kuhn's residence, Crawford street, from whence it will be taken this morning to Blairsville for burial. The deceased was fifty-five years of age and unmarried.

Divorce Cases.—In the Court of Common Pleas, Saturday, subpœnas were awarded in the following divorce cases: David Spencer vs. Emma R. Spencer; Thomas E. Gibson vs. M. J. Gibson; Francis Brown vs. Bridget Brown.

C. M. T. N.—The City Councils will hold their regular monthly meeting to-night. The Police Committee will, we understand, introduce a resolution to increase the police force, which will be a most wise proceeding.

Two Recruiting Sergeants were locked up in jail, on Saturday, in default of bail, to answer a charge of assault and battery, preferred against them by a brother chip. The row occurred on Fourth street.

Verdict.—In the case of Robinson, Rea & Co. vs. the Monongahela Insurance Company, before reported, tried in the Common Pleas Court, the jury returned a verdict in favor of plaintiffs for the sum of $6458.

Amended.—The final order in the matter of the amendment of the charter of the First German Evangelical Church was made in the Common Pleas Court on Saturday.

Archie Jones was locked up for a hearing on Saturday on a charge of assault and battery, preferred against him by Mary Graham, whose mouth he slapped.

Luke Smith had his pocket book, containing forty-three dollars, picked, while he was asleep at the Pearl Hotel, on Penn street.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of George W. Pittock & Co.'s new publication. It is of great interest to business men.

To-morrow will be the Feast of the Annunciation, a strict holiday of obligation in the Catholic Church.

A Widow, named Fitzgerald, gave birth to a still-born babe in the Allegheny tombs on Friday night.

Bridge Project at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, March 23.—The stockholders in the proposed Bridge Company met last night and formally organized by the election of Charles K. Dickson, President; Jas. Blackman, Vice President; Jas. C. Cabot, Secretary, Amos Cotting, Treasurer; Jas. B. Ead, Engineer. Several railroad companies and eastern capitalists are interested in the project, abundance of money is guaranteed, and surveys have commenced. The bridge will be located at the foot of Washington avenue, and will be of truss pattern. It will be built of iron and stone, and have a double railroad track. The carriage way will be on a level with Third street, and the railway track will enter the earth through a tunnel on a declivity between Second and Third streets, and will emerge at a point several squares west, not yet decided on.

Negro Suffrage in Georgia.

AUGUSTA, GA., March 23.—At a meeting to-night to nominate candidates for the Mayoralty, a resolution was adopted that colored citizens be allowed to register their names and vote at the election in April.

MONDAY, MARCH 25, 1867.

THE RELIGIOUS REVIVAL OF 1867.

For more than two months a religious awakening of unusual power and interest has been progressing in these cities. It commenced during the week of prayer, early in January, and has been acquiring breadth and intensity ever since. During that week the meetings in the several churches were fuller than common, and a profound spiritual interest was manifested among church members. Instances of hopeful conversion soon occurred and then multiplied. Daily meetings have been held in quite a number of congregations, and while some abatements of zeal have been experienced in one or more assemblies, on the whole, the attendance is much larger now than at any former period, and the exercises are marked with more fervor and power.

To a better comprehension of the case, we state that several of the pastors of the two cities joined in a call for two Union Prayer Meetings, as a suitable preparation for the "Week of Prayer," which is now quite generally observed throughout the Protestant world, commencing with the first Sabbath of each year. These Union Meetings were held in the Second Presbyterian Church, (Rev. Dr. HOWARD's,) on Thursday and Friday evenings, January 3d and 4th, and were largely attended.

The following Sabbath, the first of the year, a number of clergymen, by agreement, preached from the text, "My son, give me thine heart," and this opened the "Week of Prayer." Services were held in nearly all the churches, and they were unusually solemn and impressive.

In the Third Presbyterian Church, (the Rev. HERRICK JOHNSON's,) the interest was marked and decisive. A deep seriousness characterized the evening meetings, and Christians seemed to be stirred to unwonted earnestness in prayer, and unwonted activity in effort. Marked and special cases of interest occurred in immediate connection with these opening services of the year. Those long indifferent to religious truth were made to feel its power, and some were led to a radical change of heart and life.

The meetings have been continued in this Church every evening, except Saturday, of each week, from the opening week in January until now. The interest has deepened and widened, extending with especial power among young men, some forty or fifty of whom have been led to an open confession of Christ.

The young men of the Third Church have been particularly active, nobly supporting their pastor. The Monday evening meeting of each week has always been conducted by some one of them, the pastor taking his seat with the people.

There have been unusual demonstrations of grace and power in connection with this series of meetings. Strong men have been bowed to tears. Careless and reckless young men have been transformed. Christians have been greatly moved and blessed.

As one result of these services in connection with the Third Church alone, upwards of eighty individuals have been led to profess faith in Christ.

The organization of the "Young Men's Christian Association" arose out of the pressing necessity for a place of resort for young men at evening—a place that would be attractive and home-like, and under moral influences. A few young men met together and inaugurated the movement, which was completed in December, 1866. The Directors held their meetings daily for several weeks. No rooms were immediately available for carrying out plans for the social and intellectual improvement of the class specially designed to be benefited, but moral and spiritual culture might be advanced without such appliances. On Monday noon, December 24, 1866, the day before Christmas, the first daily prayer meeting was held in the First Methodist Church on Fifth street. Twenty-five or thirty young men were in attendance. These meetings were held regularly, not intermitting even for holidays, with varying numbers, and only a slight average increase, but with a manifest augmentation of feeling.

In order to present the objects of the Association to the public a meeting was held in the First Presbyterian Church, (the Rev. Mr. SCOVILLE's,) on Sabbath evening, December 30th, which was addressed by Mr. D. W. MOODY, of Chicago, among others, with the eloquence of heart obtained by intimate relationship and work with a similar organization in that city. As one result of his address, two hopeful conversions were announced. Another result was a deeper interest in the daily prayer meetings, following by increased attendance. As interest deepened, it spread and diffused itself. Soon the lower room became too small, and the meetings were removed to the main audience hall above. From the first this larger room was full, and has so continued ever since.

In order to accommodate the people of Allegheny a daily noon prayer meeting was started there by the Association, in the Rev. J. B. Clark's church, and, a few weeks afterwards, still another in the Rev. Mr. Swift's church, on Beaver street, both of which have been and are now well attended.

In Pittsburgh a second meeting of like character was started in the Trinity Methodist Church, in the Ninth ward, to meet the wishes of those too far away in that direction to be present at the Fifth street meetings.

These four Assemblies are in charge of a Committee of the Association, who attend to all matters pertaining thereto. An alphabetical list is kept of volunteer leaders of each meeting, and they lead in turn.

Deriving the impulse largely from these convocations, young men connected with different churches organized weekly prayer meetings in their regular places of worship. As a consequence, the spiritual activities of this class have become greater and more potential than ever before.

At first, these noon-day prayer meetings continued for half an hour—from 12 to 12:30. Now, that in Fifth street continues till 12:45. The prayers, addresses and singing are short, the rule being three minutes, and are altogether voluntary, after a brief opening exercise under the direction of the leader for the day. Many ladies attend.

In the Baptist Church, under the care of the Rev. Mr. DICKERSON, great interest prevails, as also in other churches of that denomination.

We regret that our information is not ampler touching the movements in particular churches. But we cannot pass over in silence the earnest and most continuous labors of the ministers of several of them. Never have men worked with more constancy and fidelity than they. Roused to unwonted energy, they pour forth their warm-hearted messages, day after day, and night after night, with no apparent abatement either in physical or spiritual power. Perfect concord between the several denominations prevails, and from present appearances the work is likely to go on indefinitely.

OPINION ELSEWHERE.

The Philadelphia North American has steadily and intelligently advocated a Free Railroad Law, presenting in that particular a contrast to the other journals of the eastern metropolis of this Commonwealth. It sustained Governor GEARY's veto of the bill indefinitely increasing the stock of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. In a judicious article, reviewing the existing condition of these affairs, it says:

"So much it is proper that we should say, at a time when a contest is threatened in which the company may be placed in a false light. We are prepared to sustain the company in its efforts to obtain whatever legislation may be really needed to enable it to contend successfully for the great prizes of western, Pacific, European and internal trade. But there must be a limit to all sublunary things, and we are not willing to aid in promoting any legislative action in violation of public rights and interests, as well as of those of the stockholders of this very company.

"We deplore the occurrence of this difficulty, because it most inevitably increases the unhappy bitterness of feeling against Philadelphia that is so rife in western and southern Pennsylvania, and in all kindness we say that we think the interest of the Pennsylvania Company, as well as of the State, demand the abandonment of the untenable position assumed at Harrisburg in seeking to hamper the Free Railroad act with provisions that would render it nugatory. No member of either House of the Legislature can possibly sustain himself before his constituents upon any platform like that, and the agitation on the subject has grown to such an extent that it will be found to be a formidable element in elections hereafter."

This view is concurred in by dispassionate and well-balanced men in all parts of the State. The calmness and dignity with which it is presented befit the occasion. Rant, foam, gasconade, exaggeration and misrepresentation have no proper place in such a discussion. Manners, in a subordinate sense, are morals; and when these are forgotten, however much a journal may delight the coarse and vulgar, it can do a worthy cause no good whatever.

SCHUYLKILL COUNTY.

For some years past Schuylkill county has not been governed by Pennsylvania, but by the "Miner's Union." Exception should be made of a few months, when the United States interposed, and sent Gen. SIGEL there with a regiment or two of troops. The strong hand of military discipline reduced the members of the "Union" to some sort of outward respect for the rights of their fellow citizens. Coal having receded very greatly in price, the "Union" men are on a strike. So far, well. Men who have labor to sell, and do not see fit to part with it on the terms offered, have an undoubted right to keep it, so long as they pay their way, and do not get on to the pauper lists. But this is not the point at which they stopped. A notice was posted through the county, in these words:

MARCH 1, 1867.

"Take notice from this time, it you want to live, for I think your time will be very short, so you must look out for all you get, and any man on the colliery until the 20 cents is put on."

[Diagram of a coffin and pistol].

Higher wages, or death to the employers who refuse! Four Superintendents of mines have been personally warned to leave under penalty of death for non-compliance. Several murders have been committed, and a number of houses robbed. These same miscreants have committed a hundred murders in that same county, during the last few years, for which none of them have been brought to punishment. Governor GEARY has now been appealed to for aid, and the suggestion has been made that the general government be solicited to make Pottsville a regular military post. As the case stands the "Union" has complete "jurisdiction." It is high time the penitentiary and the gallows received their dues.

A PRISON COMMISSION.

MR. WILSON, from the Committee of Ways and Means, has reported the following highly important joint resolution into the House, authorizing the Governor to appoint a Commission to inquire into the various systems of prison discipline:

"Be it resolved, &c., That the Governor be empowered and authorized to appoint a Commission of citizens of the State, not to exceed five in number, whose duty it shall be to inquire into the various systems of prison discipline as practiced in other States and countries as compared with what is known as the Pennsylvania system and report thereon to the next Legislature, together with plans and estimates for a central State penitentiary should such an institution be in their judgment desirable or necessary."

The passage of this bill is of the utmost importance to Allegheny county, as the overcrowded condition of the Western Penitentiary makes it imperative that a change of system be adopted.

MR. STEVENS has great faith in constantly accumulating severities as means for uniting the people of the South to those of the North, in bonds of fellowship, never again to be broken. Therein we differ widely from him. His new Confiscation Scheme has only one section that we regard with any sort of favor, and that relates to the division of the lands belonging to the governments of the seceding States among the emancipated blacks, in small parcels, and to be inalienable for a period of ten years. No better disposition could be made of these lands. The welfare of the whites and blacks, of the local governments and of the people, would be promoted by this measure.

THE New York Tribune furnishes this explanation:

"Ferdinand Volz, Collector of Internal Revenue for the Pittsburgh, Pa., District (Copperhead), was confirmed on the promise by the President to nominate a Republican, Col. I. Stewart, for Assessor, vice H. A. Weaver, Johnsonized Republican, to be removed after the confirmation of Volz was secured. The name of Stewart, which had been sent in, was withdrawn."

A REGISTRY BILL is before the Senate, which might as well get no farther. It constitutes boards of election, boards of registry, and then provides that persons who know the officers of election of the district in which they intend to vote need not be registered. Ballot-box stuffers would drive a coach-and-four through such a law.

THE Reading Journal proposes that "one of these years, after national affairs are settled," the question of a Free Railroad Law, be "brought fairly before the people." Why not this year?

A SPECIAL MEETING of the New York Association for the Advancement of Science and Art was held last Friday, to consider the propriety of organizing a central and permanent institution for educating females. A clergyman sent them this encouragement:

MY DEAR DR. GRISCOM: I wish I could be present at the meeting this evening, which is to consider the propriety of taking measures for a central educational institution for women. I have long felt very deeply the need of this movement. Our women are fast becoming butterflies for want of a true training. Most of our female schools are fashionable hot-houses, to encourage the growth of listlessness, affectation and extravagance. Society is made artificial, the laws of God are despised, and all things set topsy-turvy; wives lord it over their husbands, and children lord it over their parents; wisdom is driven into the corner and folly wears the crown. I trace nine-tenths of the flippancy and falsehood of modern society to the mockery of an education which the daughters of the land receive. God help you and your colleagues in this good work to send the devil yelping to his den.

Yours, very truly,
HOWARD CROSBY.
306 Second avenue, March 21, 1867.

FRANCE not only retires ignominiously from Mexico, but is forced, through absolute fear of Prussia, suddenly and wonderfully aggrandised, to seek alliances for mutual defence with Holland, Belgium and Switzerland; and Belgium, at least, has rejected the overtures. Meanwhile Prussia has made a close alliance with Wurtemburg. Prussia can now put into the field a much larger military force than France can command. A new arbiter of European destiny has arisen.

THE joint resolution for the relief of destitution in the Southern and Southwestern States was so amended as to authorize and direct the Secretary of War, through the Freedmen's Bureau, to apply to this purpose so much as he may deem necessary of the unexpended moneys heretofore appropriated to supply freedmen and refugees. This unexpended balance is two millions of dollars.

—The English are doing more in the way of collecting the materials of history—particularly their own history—than any other nation in Europe.

BEHIND THE LIGHTHOUSE.

Old fogyism is not quite dead. People are still to be found who think that health is promoted by depletion! Was there ever such false logic! Nature is the grand antagonist of disease, and the depletors propose to prostrate Nature, in order, one might suppose, to give the enemy a double chance at the life of the patient! The true practice is so to invigorate the vital powers as to render them an overmatch for the elements of disease. This can be done with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Of all vegetable tonics they are the most powerful and the most genial. At this season when even the strongest organizations are liable to be affected by the alternations of stringent cold and malarious moisture, this inestimable protective medicine is especially needed. Persons predisposed to billiousness, dyspepsia, constipation, intermittent fever, or any of the complaints which cold weather superinduces or aggravates, should take it regularly throughout the Winter and Spring months. It is absolutely pure and harmless.

THE INDIANS AND THE WHITE PINE.

Although long known to the aborigines of America, Dr. George W. Swett, of Boston, has brought into shape for convenient use, a most valuable preparation called POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND, which for a number of years has given great satisfaction in the cure of all those ailments dependent on an inflamed or irritated condition of the mucous membranes of the animal organism. For gravel, diabetes, dropsy, chronic bronchitis, nasal catarrh, constipation, when depending on a debilitated state of the intestines, it is one of the most valuable discoveries recently added to pharmaceutical medicine. It is likewise a most valuable compound for diseases of the kidneys and bladder generally, as any one can satisfy himself upon a single trial. Every one knows the healing virtue of the white pine for sores and ulcers, but Dr. Swett has gone to work and prepared from the sweet inside bark of that valuable tree a compound that will meet every indication where the pine would be valuable.

It is confidently recommended for the following ailments:
Diabetes in young or middle aged people;
Diabetes in old people;
Stoppage of the Urine;
The same difficulty in children during the night;
Gravel, Kidney Trouble in old people;
Ulcerated Kidneys, Ulcerated Bladder;
Discharge of mucus or pus, or blood from the bladder;
Bright's Disease of the Kidneys;
Pain in the Kidneys or Small of the Back;
Pain in the Bladder, Heat and Scalding;
Ask for POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND.
For sale by the gross, dozen or single bottle, at Dr. Keyser's great medicine store, 140 Wood street.

PROPOSALS.
PENNSYLVANIA
Agricultural Land Scrip
FOR SALE.
The Board of Commissioners now offer for sale 520,000 acres of Agricultural College Land Scrip, being the balance of the Scrip granted to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the endowment of Agricultural Colleges in this State.
Proposals for the purchase of this Land Scrip, addressed to "The Board of Commissioners of Agricultural Land Scrip," will be received at the Surveyor General Office, at Harrisburg, until 12 o'clock M.,
On Wednesday, April 10, 1867.
This land may be located in any State or Territory by the holders of the scrip upon any of the unappropriated lands (except mineral lands) of the United States, which may be subject to sale at private entry. Each piece of scrip represents a quarter section of one hundred and sixty acres, is issued in blank, and will be transferable, without endorsement or formal assignment. The blank need not be filled until the scrip is presented for location and entry, when the party holding it can fill the blank and enter the land in his own name. Bids must be made as per acre, and no bids will be received for less than one quarter section.
The Scrip will be issued immediately on the payment of the money to the surveyor General. On all bids for a less quantity than 40,000 acres, one-third of the purchase money must be paid within ten days, and the remaining two-thirds within thirty days after notification of acceptance of the bid or bids by the Board of Commissioners.
JACOB M. CAMPBELL, Surveyor Gen'l,
For the Board of Commissioners.

Important Temperance Convention.

SALTSBURG, March 22, 1867.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Knowing the state of the public mind on the subject of the Great Temperance Reform, and feeling assured that your readers throughout the State will be interested in the proceedings, in brief, of the friends of the cause, and in accordance with the request of the body, I send you the doings of a Convention held on March 19th and 20th, composed of delegates from the lodges of Good Templars in the counties of Allegheny, Westmoreland, Armstrong, and Indiana. The Convention assembled pursuant to a call issued by "Kiskiminetas Lodge" in this place, to consider the propriety of organizing a District Convention and promoting the interests of the great cause of Temperance. The Temperance Hall was swelled with delegates and visitors. Convention was called to order by W. C. T. R. Fulmer, and after prayer, the Convention was organized temporarily by calling A. L. M'Cluskey, of Indiana, to the chair, and J. C. Lewis, of Sharpsburg, Secretary.

After the appointment of the necessary committee the following permanent officers for the meeting, as reported by the committee, were elected: W. C. T., Rev. Thos. McCleary, of Blairsville; W. V. T., Mrs. E. M. Portser, Saltsburg; W. S., John W. Robinson, of Loyalhanna, and other necessary officers. Rev. Jas. A. Davidson, the renowned temperance orator, who has been engaged in the lecture field upon the subject of temperance for eleven years, in England, the British Provinces and the United States, especially in the States of California and Michigan, and who has been laboring in Western Pennsylvania since the opening of the present year, in the employ of the G. L. of Good Templars of our State, being present, by request, addressed the Convention.

Mr. Davidson contributed much to the life and interest of the meeting, by his participation in the discussions of the important questions presented for the consideration of the Convention, and his instructions in the work of the order.

The Convention decided to effect a permanent Quarterly Convention, and proceeded to the election of the following officers:

W. C. T.—Rev. T. H. Wilkinson, of Mansfield.
W. V. T.—Miss Nannie R. Story, of Greensburg.
W. S.—H. S. Beaver, of Freeport.
W. T.—Wm. Keck, of Salem.
W. I. G.—Miss Harriet Thompson, of Indiana.
W. O. G.—H. P. Rankin, of Allegheny.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The members of this Convention have been called from the different Lodges of Good Templars in the counties of Allegheny, Westmoreland, Armstrong and Indiana, to form a "District Convention," as well as to promote the interests of the great Temperance Reform, and to deliberate on the best means of saving the inebriate from destruction and protecting the young from the blighting curse of intemperance, by throwing around them the influence of the "social circle;" and whereas we find that a general Temperance revival is progressing throughout the land, embracing a goodly number of our lawmakers and high officials; therefore,

Resolved, That we acknowledge with inexpressible gratitude the favor which Almighty God has bestowed upon our order and the Temperance cause throughout the land.

Resolved, That we write Prohibition upon our banners, and resolve that we will never yield the strife until Pennsylvania is free from the "Licensing System" which strikes at attempts to destroy the noblest and best of our land.

Resolved, That we ask the co-operation of sister counties in our efforts to redeem the State from the great wrong.

And Whereas, we have heard with pleasure and profit, lectures from our Rev. brother James A. Davidson; and whereas, his able and eloquent appeals have met the universal approbation of our people, therefore

Resolved, That in our judgment the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania should retain his services as long as they may be at their command.

And be it further

Resolved, That the hearty thanks of this Convention, of the Delegates and visitors to this Convention, are due to and are hereby tendered to the members of the order in Saltsburg, and the citizens of the town, for their hospitality and liberality in entertaining us, and we shall ever gratefully remember our pleasant meeting in their pretty town.

The Convention proper held its sessions on the afternoon and night of Tuesday and morning of Wednesday. The meetings were marked throughout by the utmost harmony and good feeling. All the members participated in the business of the Convention, and all in all the enterprise was a success.

Two public meetings were held on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday the 20th inst., in the Baptist and Presbyterian churches. The houses were both well filled with attentive audiences, and addresses were delivered by Revs. Davidson and McCleary; also, short addresses by District Deputies A. L. McClusky and J. M. Atter.

Thus ended a Convention from which doubtless much good will come, and which is hoped to be but the first fruits of the organization formed and which may last until our cause is triumphant and until our motto "Faith, Hope, and Charity," is recognized throughout our land.

Truly, yours, TEMPLAR.

Enforce The Law.

The Philadelphia Ledger, in commenting on the dangerous perfection of the work of Charles Ulrick, the famous counterfeiter, recently captured at Cincinnati, says:

It appears that the work of this man was so nearly perfect that it was pronounced by experts to be the finest specimens of counterfeiting ever seen. Everything that is accomplished by the costly machinery in the possession of the Government, and the chemical processes for which the Government had paid large sums, is said to be perfectly imitated in the notes produced by this man. It will thus be seen that the people can no longer rely for protection on the fineness of the work produced by the public engravers and the Government note printing office. This is rather a startling condition of affairs, for heretofore the principal means of detecting counterfeits have been furnished by the difficulty, if not impossibility, as was supposed, of imitating the fineness and regularity of the engraving executed by the skilled workmen in that art. These modes of detecting counterfeits being unavailable for the work produced by the new school of counterfeiters, who seem to be as highly skilled as the regular and honest engravers, there is but one resource left, and that is a severe and rigid enforcement of the laws against everybody engaged in the business of counterfeiting, high and low; from offenders like this man Ulrich, down to the creatures and tools who are employed to "shove" the counterfeit article upon the public. During the last four or five years, thousands of persons have been engaged in the nefarious trade of forging and passing the Government notes and securities, and several hundreds of these persons have been arrested in the larger cities. But very few of all that number have been prosecuted to conviction and punishment. Four-fifths of them at least get off scot-free, by some means or other.

It is this impunity that has made counterfeiting not only a profitable, but to a considerable extent a safe business for those engaged in it, and being so, a large number of persons have been tempted to embark in it. It pays well, and there is but little risk of either capital or bodily punishment. If on the contrary those who were from time to time detected and arrested, had been brought to trial, prosecuted to conviction, and sentenced to severe terms of imprisonment, there would have been no such temptation for others to engage in the business. Skilled engravers like this man Ulrich would not have run the risk of such imprisonment if there had been more certainty that it would have been inflicted. We would have heard of but few such trials of skill between the counterfeiters and the regular and honest engravers as those that have been developed in the last three or four years, and that have now culminated in the absolutely perfect work of Ulrich. The remedy is in the inexorable enforcement of the law, and until this is made certain, it will be of but little avail to invent new guards against counterfeiting in the way of costly machinery and chemical processes, for the counterfeiters will find means to reproduce them all.

Execution of Alexander B. Wiley.

We take the following from an exchange: Alexander B. Wiley, in the 26th year of his age, was hung at Wilkesbarre, Pa., on Thursday, for the murder of Mrs. Alice McElwee, on the morning of the 16th of May, 1866. The tragedy occurred at the house of Mrs. Hannah Miller, located on the mountain side, near the Lackawanna and Bloomsburg Railroad, three-fourths of a mile to the southward of Wilkesbarre. The maiden name of the victim was Alice Gardner. She lived as a domestic in the McElwee family, and it is alleged that Wiley paid improper attention to her, and she discarded him. Wiley enlisted in Company A, 143d P. V., but deserted the army. The prisoner, in reference to the murder of Mrs. McElwee, said:

This girl, five or six years ago, worked in a machine shop; I went into the army; when I returned I found her destitute, and I paid her board and kept her at a place called Blindtown; what she wanted I provided her with until six or eight months ago; she was in the habit of seeing other men; I was not sparking her; I did not care much for her; on the morning of the shooting I went there before daylight, opened the back door and went to sleep; slept there until Miller got up, when he pushed me, and said, "You devil, you are again here;" I then got up, and went into Miller's bed; at eight o'clock Mary Frace came to the house, and I got up; I jumped up with a knife in my hand, which I was playing with; I stuck the knife in the table, and then put it in my pocket; I tore my coat doing so; Mrs. Miller then offered to mend my coat; in doing so she found my revolver; I told her to let it alone; I did not want to injure this woman McElwee; the revolver had only three loads in it; I pointed it at Mrs. Frace in fun; I did the same to Mr. McElwee; I thought the pistol was only half-cocked; I did not intend to murder her, thinking that the barrel of the pistol I snapped was empty; this is about all I know of the affair.

Shortly before two o'clock, the doomed man was prepared for the gallows and led forth to the execution. He was supported by his spiritual advisers, who ascended the scaffold with him. He maintained the same indifference as had marked his course during his incarceration. While upon the scaffold, he requested the attending clergyman to say that he did not kill Alice McElwee intentionally. In a few moments after this, the rope was placed around his neck, the prop was removed from the platform, and the murderer was swung into eternity.

THE BUTLER COUNTY HOMICIDE.

BUTLER, March 22—2¼ P. M.

The counsel, on behalf of John B. Addington, moved for a new trial for the following reasons:

First, The jury erred in finding the defendant "guilty," as the evidence was not sufficient to remove all reasonable doubt.

Second. The defendant's counsel also urge as additional reasons, which they allege were errors of the Court, as follows, to-wit: 1st. In refusing to quash the array of Grand Jurors; 2d, For refusing to quash the array of Petit Jurors; 3d, In refusing to quash the indictment; and,

Third—In error in the several bills of exceptions, sealed by the Court, at the instance of defendant's counsel, during the trial on the reception of evidence, which several exceptions are hereby begged to be made part of these reasons, as fully as if repeated and incorporated herein.

(Signed,)
J. N. PURVIANCE,
C. M'CANDLESS,
J. C. M'CARTHY,
THOMPSON & LYON.
Attorneys for defendant.

Gen. John N. Purviance made brief remarks why he thought the Court should entertain the motion, disclaiming for himself and colleagues any thought of reflection upon the Court and jury, but urged the motion on its merits and as a moral duty resting upon them towards their client.

The Court, after consultation, announced that they would entertain the motion, and fix an early adjourned Court for its disposal.

Thus ends the trial at present.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE.—A Farm of about 58 acres in Union Township, Allegheny county, Pa., situate about four miles from the city on the Washington Pike. The improvements are a large two story Brick Dwelling House with 12 rooms, a two-story Spring House, a Carriage House, a large Lumber Room, a No. 1 Frame Bank Barn, with stabling sufficient for 50 head of cattle. There is a fine Young Orchard, comprising about 12 acres, stocked with the best varieties of fruit trees. It is all underlaid with coal. The land is in a high state of cultivation, well watered, fences good, and would suit admirably for dairy or gardening purposes.

Also, 17½ acres adjoining the above, with a good Frame House, Carriage House, good Spring House and other out-buildings; with a good Orchard in fine bearing condition. This piece is also all underlaid with coal.

Also, 12 acres adjoining the above, unimproved, for sale low. This piece is also all underlaid with coal.

The above three pieces of property lie between the Little Saw Mill Run and Steubenville Railroads, and the coal can be reached easily from either road. The coal alone is worth all that is asked for the entire property.

Also Farm of 173 acres, situate in St. Clair township, Westmoreland county, Pa., immediately on the line of the Penna. Railroad. The improvements are a two-story Frame House with five rooms and good cellar, a Frame Bank Barn, 40x60 feet, and other out-buildings. There is on the place a good Young Apple Orchard; 120 acres cleared, balance in good timber; fencing generally good, well watered; underlaid with coal and limestone; convenient to churches, mills, schools and blacksmith shops, together with the personal property such as stock, implements, grain in the ground, &c. Possession given immediately.

Also a Farm of 147 acres, situated in Penn township, Westmoreland county, Pa., adjoining Grapeville Station, on Penn'a. Railroad, on which there is a good Two Story Stone House, with Six Rooms, a Barn, Carriage House, and other buildings; an Orchard of different fruit trees; it is underlayed with coal. There is a Salt Well on it in good order, producing 9 bbls. per day. This property is offered very cheap and good terms.

Also, a Farm of 138 acres, situated in Conemaugh township, Indiana county, Pa., about 2⅝ miles from the West Penn'a. Railroad, at Livermore Station. The improvements are a Two Story Frame House, with Four Rooms, a double Porch and old Log Barn, Spring House. About 100 acres cleared, the residue in timber, such as white oak, locust and chestnut. This farm will be sold very low, the owner wishing to go west. Possession immediately.

Also, a Farm of 274 acres, situated in Centre township, Indiana county, Pa., about ½ mile from Horner Station, on the Indiana Branch Railroad. The improvements are a good Two Story Brick Dwelling, with Six Rooms, a Cellar, a No. 1 Frame Bank Barn, 60 by 40; a fine Apple Orchard with a variety of different fruit trees, a good Cider Press; fencing generally good; well watered. About 140 acres cleared. The residue in good timber land, and a good six foot vein of coal under the whole farm. A portion of the purchase money will be taken for well located lands in Nebraska. This property, if sold before the 10th of March, will be sold at the low price of 25 dollars per acre. Possession on the 1st day of April, A. D. 1868.

Also, An excellent Farm of 160 acres, of which 95 acres are under cultivation, situate in Christian county, Illinois. Improvements—a new frame dwelling containing 5 rooms; about 400 choice fruit trees, good fencing, &c. It lies within 2 miles of the Illinois Central R. R.; will be sold on reasonable terms. City property taken in part exchange if desired.

Also, 10 Lots in Southern Suburbs of Chicago, each Lot 30 by 130, in Kedzier's sub-division of lots. These lots lie one mile North of the junction of St. Louis and Alton and Michigan Southern R. Rs., and are on the line of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago R. R., just 5 miles South of the Court House, near the new Cattle Grounds, and will be sold for $400 each.

Also, a Farm of 312 acres in Penn township, Westmoreland county, 220 acres cleared and under cultivation, 92 acres of first-rate white oak and other timber, 2 dwelling houses, 1 of them 2 stories, the other 1 story, with a tenant house, with a first-rate Steam sawmill in good running order; young orchard of grafted fruit. The land is rolling; every acre is tillable, with lime tone soil and sub-oil, with never failing springs; within one hundred rods of the Penna. Central Railroad; 28 miles east of Pittsburgh, and three miles west of Greensburg. This farm is pleasantly and eligibly situated in a good neighborhood; every acre is underlaid with coal. The title is good.

Also, a Farm of 160 acres, situated in West Wheatfield township, Indiana county, Penn'a, about 3 miles from Bolivar Station, on the Penna. Railroad. The improvements are, a good two-story Brick House with 6 rooms a No. 1 frame Bank Barn, and all other necessary out buildings. The site is good, and the price very low, and on easy terms.

LOCAL NEWS ON FIRST AND THIRD PAGES

LETTER FROM HARRISBURG.

Special Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.
HARRISBURG, March 23, 1867.

As the session of the Legislature will be closed within a very few days, business is being "whipped through" in right good earnest. Persons interested in any one of the scores of private bills awaiting legislative action, should be here, as there is no telling when the law-makers may reach them. A bill once reached, if it has a friend on the floor, may pass in the twinkling of a thought, but if friendless it is killed without much ceremony.

THE NEW LIQUOR LAW.

The liquor bill which I send you has been run through in a most disreputable manner, and I will wager a months pay that outside of Liquor League, in your county not three individuals are aware of a single provision of the bill. I remonstrated at the hotel with one of your members upon the hasty passage of the act and mildly insinuated that the temperance advocates of old Allegheny, the Steels, the Baileys, the Wrays, and oth rs who have taken part in the good cause, should have been consulted upon the subject before it was rushed through. My answer was that the "temperance men didn't know what they wanted, and at best their influence amounted to nothing." The bill may suit your locality, but it is the child of the liquor element, and in treating it as such, the members might have sought the advice of the temperance leaders. There is a large sized snake in the bill, and the good temperance folks are sadly outwitted.

HANGING LEGISLATORS.

The summary method hinted at by your journal to punish corruption in high places, fell like a hot shot into the legislative camp and excited considerable comment. Whether you meant it as a joke or in earnest, hanging would be a good thing for many members whose names suggest themselves at the mere thought. The ball which your GAZETTE has set rolling to play "party quits" for a brief season, till fearless, honest and upright men are placed in the legislative halls, meets with universal favor here, among the leaders of the party. The suggestion does not occasion surprise among the members. They have dared the public, trampled the first interests of the commonwealth under foot, and have been waiting the punishment due from the people. Keep the matter before the public, and let Allegheny county take the lead in this work, and nearly every other county will fall into ranks, and few if any of the present members will be able to stem the current which shall consign them to private life.

THE SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE.

It is understood here among the initiated that the worthy Speaker of the House, Col. John P. Glass, will not seek re-election at the close of his term as member, but will enter the ring as a candidate for the office of Mayor of Pittsburgh. It must not be understood that he aspires to the position of Chief Executive of simple Pittsburgh as she now lies hemmed in by the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers, but of

GRAND CONSOLIDATED PITTSBURGH.

The swallowing up of Allegheny, Birmingham, and other neighboring boroughs and townships, into the corporate limits of your city, is much nearer being accomplished than many may be aware. The bill of consolidation has been prepared, and will be passed without much opposition before the close of next week. The Legislature will adjourn and the members go to their homes in the belief that they have succeeded in creating in the western section of the State, a city nearly equal in population and importance to Philadelphia. It remains, however, with the citizens immediately interested in the subject, to vote for or against the consolidation which can never be made without the consent of the people residing in the neighborhoods to be joined together and made one.

AN ABUSED COMPANY.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is, in many respects, grossly abused by the press throughout the State, and by many of the members. Let the wily Scott enter the House with some simple bill to advance the interests of the great corporation, and the alarm note is sounded at once throughout the State. Batteries from all quarters pour in their hot shell upon the "monstrous monopoly," and long winded speeches are made by Senators and Representatives who are anxious to show that they are not bound to advocate the claims of the great concern. Some of the western members especially, oppose any and all legislation in which the Company is interested. While they opposed the bill allowing that Company the privilege to increase its capital, they forgot that they granted the very same authority to the Allegheny Valley Railroad Company. The latter bill is open to the same objection raised against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's bill which was vetoed. It was passed through hasty legislation, the members failing to scrutinize its provisions, as they might have done more closely if it were to benefit the Central road. The Governor signed the bill without due examination, and when he discovered the peculiar provision in it, he addressed a message to the Legislature asking to have the bill revoked, which has not yet been done.

A COMMITTEE FROM SCHUYLKILL COUNTY.

Your readers are doubtless aware of the terrible state of society in the mining regions of Schuylkill county. It has been found impossible for the civil authorities to maintain peace and order, and human life is held at low value in that section. Murders, burglaries, and all other crimes are of daily occurrence, and it is impossible to have the offenders brought to justice. A committee of fifty respectable and law abiding citizens of that county were here yesterday to urge upon the Legislature, a necessary change in their police system. Senator Randall opposed any change but why he did so can only be conjectured. At a caucus of the Republican members held upon the subject on Friday night, no definite action was taken upon the subject. The Governor's message was issued at the instance of the visiting committee, and it is hoped that the reign of terror in that section will be ended by prompt legislation.

SOLDIER'S ORPHANS.

The bill has passed the Senate relative to the education of soldiers' orphans. It provides for the appointment by the Governor of a Superintendent, who shall serve three years, salary to be the same as that received by the Superintendent of the Common Schools. He shall have power to establish one school, if necessary, in each of the Normal School Districts. Each school to contain accommodations for not less than one hundred and fifty scholars under sixteen years of age. Orphans of soldiers who were citizens of other States, but died in Pennsylvania Regiments, are to be received and educated in the schools. The bill will pass the House without amendment.

A MALICIOUS STATEMENT.

The Harrisburgh Patriot and Union a journal dyed deep in Democracy, is responsible for a petty libel upon Senator Fisher, of Lancaster county. It noticed in a squib that, "on Monday night last a Radical State Senator, it is alleged, made indecent proposals to the respectable daughter of one of our citizens, and was shortly after severely caned by the indignant father. More 'God and Morality'—after the Radical fashion." This referred to Gen. Fisher, as another democratic paper choose to say, and that gentleman called up the subject in the Senate and had an investigation committee appointed to examine into the truth of the charge. The story is cut from the whole cloth and a suit for libel will be instituted.

THE POLICE BILL.

Alderman Strain, of your city, has been lobbying to some extent for the passage of an act to divide the city of Pittsburgh into four police districts. I mail you a copy of the bill. It will probably come up on Tuesday next, and it is likely to pass. In my next I will favor you, perhaps, with an account of how Brother Bigham played off on some of his colleagues in shoving through the "Free and Easy" liquor law.

The New Liquor Law—New License System for Allegheny County—The Bill in Full—County Commissioners to Grant all Licenses, &c., &c.

The following is a correct copy of the new Liquor bill as it passed the Legislature and received the si nature of the Governor:

An Act regulating the granting of license to eating houses and taverns in the county of Allegheny and enforcing order therein:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the Judges of the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny county shall hereafter be relieved of the granting of licenses to taverns and eating houses, and that the county Commissioners of said county shall hereafter be the license board, with all authority to grant or refuse licenses heretofore vested in the Court of Quarter Sessions of said county; provided, that no person who, within one year preceding his application, has been under sentence for any felony committed by him, or during such time shall be hereafter imprisoned for any violation of this license law, shall be entitled to a license by said board; and provided, further, that each of the members of the license board thus created shall be entitled, as compensation therefor, to the sum of seven hundred dollars per annum, to be paid from the treasury of the house of employment of said county.

SEC 2. In said county all applicants for license to sell intoxicating liquors by any measure less than one quart, shall, during the months of March or April in each year appear before the clerk of the Court of Quarter Sessions of said county, and make an oath or affirmation of the amount of their respective sales of liquors and all other refreshments at their respective bars to the best of their knowledge and belief, and said clerk is required to file such affidavit in his office, and rate and classify such applicant in accordance therewith. The inns and taverns by the classification fixed on by the Act of April 20th, 1858, and the eating houses and restaurants, that of April 10th, 1849; and in case any general law is passed increasing the rates of licenses to eating houses or taverns then the same are to be rated and classified by such rates; provided that any applicant for a house not previously licensed shall be rated and classified as he may deem just, from its locality and probable business, and he shall enter all applications upon a docket to be provided therefor, which shall be laid before the license board, organized under the first section of this act. Said Board shall have the authority to revise and correct such classification upon any evidence brought before it, and when it is satisfied of its correctness, shall approve the same, provided that any applicant out of time receive a license for a part of a year, expiring on the first of the ensuing May. The said clerk shall act as clerk for the license Board, and for all services in each application for Eating Houses be entitled to one dollar, and in case the same is granted, to each application for tavern, two dollars, and in case the same is granted, to two dollars more. This to be in full of all fees in each case.

SEC. 3. That the County Treasurer of Allegheny county is hereby required to perform all the duties in regard to the granting of licenses heretofore performed by him; provided, however, that the County Treasurer, at the time he receives the State license is hereby required to demand and receive from each applicant an equal amount of money to be held by him for the erection of a House of Employment in said county, and to be accounted for to the Inspectors of the Allegheny County Prison for the aforesaid purposes; which Board the said Treasurer is hereby required to report monthly the amount so received, and held by him; and said Treasurer, commencing January 1st, 1867, shall be allowed to retain out of the money so received, five hundred dollars per annum, payable quarterly, for his services as Treasurer of said Board; Provided, That said Treasurer shall, also, when he issues a license to any wholesale or retail store keeper to deal in liquors, be authorized to demand and procure from each one for the said Treasurer of the House of Employment an equal amount to what has been paid the State.

SEC. 4. The Judges of the Court of Quarter Sessions are hereby authorized to revoke any license granted when satisfied that the party licensed is permitting the licensed premises to become the resort of idle and disorderly persons to the annoyance of the neighborhood, and to impose as a part of the penalty that said party shall not be entitled to a license for twelve months thereafter.

SEC. 5. Persons licensed as herein provided shall as far as in their power prevent all disorderly conduct in and about their premises, and in case of any disturbance of the peace shall immediately give notice to the nearest sheriff, constable, officer of police of such disturbance, and call upon such officer to interfere, whereupon it shall be the duty of such officer to remove the disorderly persons.

SEC. 6. No person shall sell, give away or dispose of any strong or spiritous liquors, wine, ale, beer or any intoxicating drinks to an apprentice or any person under twenty-one years of age, without consent given in writing, in the case of an apprentice, master or mistress—in the case of any minor, of his father, mother or guardian.

SEC. 7. No person shall sell or dispose of, and no licensed person shall suffer any person in his, her, or their employment to sell, give away or dispose of any strong or spirituous liquors, wine, ale, beer, or any mixture of such liquors to any habitual drunkard, or any intoxicated persons, then being under the influence of any such liquors, under the penalty of forfeiture of license, as provided for in section 4th.

SEC. 8. No person thus licensed shall, against the request of any wife, husband, parent, or child, sell, give away or dispose of any strong or spirituous liquors, wines, ale or beer, to the husband of any such wife, the wife of any such husband, parent of any such child, or child of any such parent, under penalty of all the fines and forfeitures of this act.

SEC. 9. All persons thus licensed shall close or shut up their bar or place of sale at or before the hour of twelve every night, on Sunday shall not open them at all, but keep them shut until Monday. This is not designed to prevent the reception and lodging of persons traveling without violation of law.

SEC. 10. It shall be the duty of every constable and officer of police to arrest every and any person who shall be found intoxicated in any streets or public highway, and take him or her before any magistrate of the vicinity, and if such magistrate shall, after due inquiry, deem him or her too much intoxicated to be fully examined, or to answer on oath correctly, the magistrate shall cause him or her to be confined until he or she become sober.

SEC. 11. The Board of License may, of their own notion, at any time, and shall upon a magistrate's report, summon before them any person or persons licensed as aforesaid; if upon inquiry, they shall become satisfied that such person or persons so licensed, has or have violated any provision of this act, they shall revoke, cancel and annul the license of such person, which they are hereby empowered to do, and to decare the license fee forfeited; upon any such inquiry the Board of License shall have power to summon and compel the attendance of witnesses for or against the party, and examine them under oath.

SEC. 12. Every person who may and shall violate any of the provisions of this act, shall for each offense be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, shall be punished with a fine of not less than twenty, or more than thirty dollars, and in case of non-payment thereof, with imprisonment for not less than two days or more than thirty days, the penalty so recovered to be paid to the Treasurer of the School Board of the ward, borough or township where the house is located.

SEC. 13. This act shall take effect from the date of its passage, except that licenses under the pre-existing laws shall hold good until the time of their expiration. All laws or parts of laws inconsistent with any provisions hereof are hereby repealed, and all general laws not inconsistent are declared to be in full force.

We Call the Attention

Of farmers, and all who desire to settle in the West, to the advertisement of over 180,000 acres of the finest lands in Kansas. These lands are all within fifteen hours by rail of St. Louis, and comprise several thousand acres of the best timbered lands along the valley of the Kansas river. The Delaware Reserve was ceded to the Union Pacific Railway Company, Eastern division, by treaty conditioned on the building of the railroad through them. The terms of the treaty have been complied with, and they are now for the first time offered at public sale. This is a rare opportunity for men of small means to secure homes in one of the most enterprising and growing of our trans-Mississippi States.

The following are the New York stock quotations for to-day: Gold, 134¼; 1881, bonds, 109; Five Twenties, old, 109¾; Five Twenties, '65, 107½; do new, 107; Seven Thirties, 105½. —Reports from various parts of the country continue to exhibit general business as exceedingly stagnant and unprofitable. Embarrassments press upon merchants and customers, mill-owners and work people. On neither side are these difficulties simulated—they are real; and, what is worse, are likely to press with increased severity before permanent alleviation shall be obtained. The fact is, all kinds of business is in a state of transition. As in a fever of the body, this malady will run its course.

—The Western money centres are generally quiet, and we have no new features to chronicle. Exchange is still everywhere in favor of New York, and every appearance indicates a steady flow of currency from that region to that city for some time to come. The general rates for money, however, rule somewhat high, averaging from nine per cent. per annum to one and a half per cent a month.

—The New York Times says, on the authority of a Chicago journal, that a speculative mania in breadstuffs and provisions is at work in the West, some of the signs of which have been visible in New York city during the last few days. A movement of this kind has began at the great grain centres of the West, and will not be long confined to those points and the city of New York, but will soon extend to the other Atlantic ports, and thence all over the country, to the great prejudice of consumers everywhere. How much this speculation is favored by "accommodations at bank," we of course cannot know positively, but there is good reason to believe that the quotations in the daily reports of the flour and produce markets, of "upward movements" and "upward tendencies" are not wholly free from aid afforded by the banks. Indeed, we are informed that the banks only lend money to speculators to put up prices and to hold them up until scarcity forces consumers to pay them but that bank officers are, in some instances, engaged as partners in the transactions. This is not only a most reprehensible abuse of the privilege of banking as against the people who have conceded the right to them to bank, but it is most dangerous to the solvency of the institutions that may so employ their means. There have been several bank wrecks recently, all of which can be traced more or less directly to speculation. None of them, so far, have been from speculations in breadstuffs, but if what is now reported is true, the next that occurs may trace its trouble to that cause; and any such failure will command little public sympathy, and will do more than almost anything else to attach odium to the system. As an evidence that the present high prices of breadstuffs are unnatural, and contrary to all past experience, we refer to a comparison of present prices with those current at the beginning of last year, as presented by a New York cotemporary. It is seen that they have advanced on an average about thirty-five per cent, while dairy products and beef and pork have declined twenty per cent, and groceries about ten per cent. A comparison of prices of March, 1866, with those of March, 1865—when the war terminated—exhibited no material change. The manner in which prices have thus kept up strongly contrasts with the rapid decline which followed the termination of the war of 1812. On Saturday, the day upon which peace was announced sugar sold at $26 per hundred weight; on the following Monday it was freely offered at $12,50 per hundred weight. Tea fell from $2 25 to $1 per pound. On that day specie sold at twenty-two per cent premium; on the next Monday at two per cent. Governments, six per cent, rose in one day from seventy-six to eighty-six, while bank stock advanced ten per cent. A careful comparison of present market prices with those on like occasions in the past, when banks had less influence on the markets than they now have, leads us naturally to the conclusion that the speculations in certain commodities are to a greater or less extent fostered by improper banking.—Phila. Ledger.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, March 23, 1867.

The produce markets have been rather more active during the past week, and with an improved demand for some articles for home consumption as well as for shipment and on speculation, a firmer feeling has been developed, and, generally speaking, prices are higher.

GRAIN—Wheat is in demand, and in limited supply; sales of 200 bushels choice Spring, at $2,90. Oats firm, with a good demand; sale of 1 car at 53; also, small sales at 55 to 57. Corn is firm, and we now quote at 75 for prime Ear, and 78 to 80 for Shelled. Barley is in demand; Spring is selling at $1 to $1,10. No sales of Rye reported; there is a good demand at $1,35.

FLOUR—Is firm with a fair local demand, and prices are well sustained. We continue to quote at $12,50 to $13 for prime to choice Spring Wheat; $13,50 to $14,50 for Winter Wheat; and $16 to $17 for fancy brands. Rye Flour is quoted at $7,25 to $7,50.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is firm with a steady jobbing demand at 10 to 10¼ for Shoulders; 11½ to 12 for Ribbed Sides; and 15½ to 16 for Sugar Cured Hams. Prime kettle rendered Lard is quoted at 13. Sales of Mess Pork at $25.

SEEDS—Sales of Clover at $8,50, and Timothy at $3 to $3,25. Flaxseed is wanted at $2,85.

BUTTER—There is a steady demand for prime Roll, and we can report sales at 33 to 35, and choice, in small packages, at 36 to 38c.

EGGS—Supply somewhat in excess of the demand, and prices are barely maintained at 20 to 21.

ASHES—Steady, with sales at 5¼ for common Soda; 5¾ for Refined do; 13½ for Pearls; and 8½ for Potash.

PIG LEAD—Sales of 1 car at 11c.

POTATOES—The demand seems to be improving, though prices remain unchanged—sales at 75 to 80 per bushel, and $2,50 to $2,75 per bbl.

GREEN APPLES—Quiet and unchanged—sales at from $3,50 to $4,50 per barrel, for fair to choice.

MAPLE MOLASSES—Sales reported at $1 75 to $2 for gallon jugs—mostly at $1,75.

HAY—Prime baled Hay is in demand and sells on wharf and track at $25.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, March 23, 1867.

CRUDE—The market for Crude, to use a common phrase among oil men, was a little "offish" to-day, compared with yesterday, and holders were not so confident of establishing another advance, and buyers were not very numerous, and the only sale reported was five hundred barrels for April, at 6¾. Quotations may be fairly given at 6¾, on spot, and 6¾ to 7 for April and May. Offers to buy for all the year, buyer's option, at 8½, and offers to sell at 9½ to 10. As always is the case when there is a sudden lull in the market, and more particularly when it occurs on Saturday, operators make but little effort to do anything preferring rather to hold off until Monday, and await private advices from the east and other points. Telegrams from Oil City report the market a little excited there, and an advance of from 15 to 20 cents per barrel is quoted.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was very quiet to-day but firm, notwithstanding there was not a single reported. We understand that there were offers to buy prime light straw to white, on the spot, at 25½@26, and standard white at 27, delivered in Philadelphia, but there are no sellers in this market at present at these figures. Standard white could doubtless be sold for April at 28, and for late summer months at 30½, and possibly 31. It is now reported that the Philadelphia operator who sold "short" pretty largely the other day, instead of being cornered himself, may have "corner" somebody else, as the market has taken a turn in his favor. For free oil, the demand is light, being restricted almost entirely to supplying the immediate wants of the local trade.

RIVER NEWS.

The river was apparently at a stand yesterday afternoon, with ten feet in the channel by the Allegheny marks. The weather was sultry with every appearance of more rain.

The Maggie Hays, from Cincinnati, and the Ingomar, from Matamoras, were the only arrivals aside from the regular packets, and there were no departures other than those noted below.

The Argosy left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Friday, and the Kate Putnam was advertised to follow on Saturday. The Spray from Cincinnati, and the Columbia, from Nashville, are among the first boats due.

The Ida Rees, for Cincinnati and Louisville, and the Ezra Porter, for Cincinnati, cleared on Saturday with fair trips. The Porter did not have more than half a freight list, but she was crowded with passengers. The offerings of freight for Cincinnati are very light, and it takes a boat a considerable length of time to pick up a trip.

The Bellevernon, Capt. Darragh, will at once commence loading for St Louis, and the R. C. Gray, Capt. Anderson, is up for Cincinnati and Louisville.

The Leclaire, in command of Capt. J. G. Saint, is announced for the Idaho Gold Regions, leaving on Saturday next, and here is a chance for parties intending to visit the gold mines.

The Portsmouth packet, Robt. Moore, will be here on Thursday, and leaving on Friday evening, as usual. The Ezra Porter took down her new shaft, so that she will be soon all right.

The Kenton, Capt. Dunlap, will be the first boat out for New Orleans, and passengers and shippers should bear in mind that she goes all the way through, and no mistake.

The Urilda cleared for Oil City on Saturday evening, with a very good trip, and the Ida Rees No. 2, we presume, will follow her this evening. Business in the Allegheny River trade, like every other river trade, is very dull, with but slight prospects at present of any immediate improvement.

It is probable that a considerable quantity of coal will get off within the next day or two. The Hercules will probably get out with a tow to-day, and the A. J. Baker, it is expected, will follow to-morrow.

HIGH VS. LOW PRESSURE ENGINES.—Editors Gazette:—Having read in your excellent paper of the other day, a short account of a letter that had appeared in the Louisville Democrat, respecting the Great Republic steamboat, my curiosity was very much excited, so much so that I had to procure a copy of the criticism, to see what expressions the correspondent had made. Whether the letter had its origin in Allegheny or Louisville, I must say that the article contains a great many truths. The great fault I have to find with the letter is, that the correspondent shows off with glaring language the mistakes or rather the little discrepancies and does not say one word in connection with the magnificent cabins or the general passenger accommodation, but goes into extacies upon what he calls the mechanical absurdities, viz, the engines. I having had considerable practice in designing and constructing engines of all grades in most civilized countries of this globe, would like to say a little in reply to Paul Pry, as that is the nom de plume used by the Louisville correspondent. In the first place the engines ought certainly not to have been classed low pressure. The main pressure of steam used may certainly be less than is generally in vogue on this river and below, but the Republic's engines are really not low pressure. Paul Pry is quite right in what he avonches as to the average working pressure of the above class of engines. It does not follow that because an engine has an air pump and condenser that she is to be ranked as a low pressure engine; certainly not. There are four different grades of engines, the Atmospheric, the Low Pressure, the High Pressure Condensing Engine, and the High Pressure, and under the third grade do the Republic's engines come, as they are truly high pressure condensing engines (of course a duplex cylinder engine, or rather a compound one, come under this head, as in the above category, I have not taken into consideration the style but the prime mover.) As for the workmanship, it is to be excused to a certain extent, since the style of engine being new here, we could not expect our mechanics to make a good job of a new idea (to Pittsburgh) still the workmanship is very fair with the exception of some few trifling things. I consider the builder of these engines deserves great praise for his endeavors to alter the present barbarous style of steamboat engines, and although he may have taken Arthur Woolf's exploded ideas as a criterion, still, he may imagine that some good may be done in that direction. Not, however, that the theory of using exhausted steam be favorable to me, as I have some time ago proved its fallacy, and shall be quite happy to give my statistics any time to those who may require them; and, I may say that my experiments were carried on not at a small scale since they cost nearly $5,000. I must say, I coincide with the Louisville Democrat in avouching that the builders in general of steamboats on the Ohio river, either originating here or below, are very old fashioned, since really I believe that the same patterns (for the engine) have been used for at least the last fifteen years, if not for twenty; the reason of this was a mystery to me, for a considerable period until I found out the cause; that was, the persons in general in charge of our machine shops were not competent to fill their offices, and so not able to design or get up any fresh ideas; for instance, I know of one of our largest machine shops that is managed by two foremen, (good mechanics) who may know an "A" from a bull's foot, but really are not capable to tell the proper proportions of steam ports as to size of cylinders or any other requisite minutia. This is the reason we are so much behind. A New York friend of mine who lately visited Pittsburgh and vicinity, said that he believed you could take the average of the river engines, and after close examination, would find that there would not be one-sixth of them of proper proportions in their steam passages, and also in their cut-off arrangements. Well, I must confess although he is certainly a little biassed, yet, I have seen a great number of cut-off cams, not only in the wrong positions, but also of the wrong shape. Our dilatory or retrograde movements are due to these causes, if our machine shop proprietors will not employ competent persons to design new ideas, we cannot march in the ranks of engineering profession, and so must certainly not get mad if we do get ridiculed. Mr. editor, these are facts, let us then endeavor to stick to the truth, and not let our pride intoxicate us, for we certainly may learn much if we look abroad. I intend, if agreeable to you, to write a few letters upon Pittsburgh, as I have no doubt that they might be a little conducive to knowledge.

I remain yours respectfully,
A MECHANICAL ENGINEER.

Some time ago serious complaints were made against Abner Peebles, pilot, and Edgar Robinson, first engineer of the steamer Dexter, charging them with drunkenness, incompetency, &c. The charges were duly made and came before Captain Samuel Walker, the proper government officer to investigate them, who, after a patient hearing and thorough investigation into the facts, made the following decision:

"In the case of the two first officers of the steamboat Dexter, it is decided that Abner Peebles, the first pilot and master, shall have his license suspended as a pilot indefinitely; and further, that his license as a first engineer has been forfeited. So far as regards Edgar Robinson, the first engineer, his license has been forfeited."

ANOTHER BOAT.—A new craft is on the tapis, and in fact in course of construction, the machinery being under full contract. The hull is to be forty-five feet in length, and fourteen feet wide, over the guards and all. She is to be a side wheeler, with an engine six inches in diameter, and eighteen inches stroke. The water wheels are six feet in diameter, with twenty-four inch length of buckets. She has two boilers each twenty-four inches in diameter and ten feet in length. The machinery is being made at the Union Foundry by Dennis Long, the new craft being for Master Geo. Long.

The contract for the hull has not yet been closed, but we have the assurance that it will be built in the vicinity of Pittsburgh, at Shousetown, where other great hulls have been constructed.—Louisville Courier.

The Columbia left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Thursday, and the Argosy was advertised to leave on Friday.

The Louisville Democrat man has again been perpetrating some more smart sayings at the expense of the Great Republic, as will be seen by the following:

When the Republic landed at Cincinnati a young lady, passenger, remarked to a "mail clerk" "come, let us retire to the verandah and take a look at the natives." That young lady was never away from home before, or else she was putting on airs.

The stern wheel steamer Maggie Hays, has the honor of being the first boat to pass the Great Republic under way—down stream. The Hostona next. The Richmond or towboat Ajax will be the first to pass her up stream.

The Great Republic will here to-morrow. A great many may go aborad, but "we'll be shot if we do." We'll go if the officers will send a "couch and four," with a special invitation to dine at 4 P. M.

We take the following from our Louisville exchanges of Friday: The towboats Simpson Horner and N. J. Bigley came in from above yesterday with tows of coal. The Armadillo leaves for Pittsburgh at 5 o'clock this evening positively.

The steamer John T. McCombs has been given up the underwriters, who, we believe have determined to wreck her, one-third of the proceeds to go to the owners. She was insured for about $9,000 in local offices here. The boat grounded on the bank of the rapidly falling river, and was left high and dry.

From the Cincinnati Commercial, of Saturday, we extract the following items:

Mr. A. J. Haslett yesterday purchased Capt. J. R. Richardson's interest—one-eighth—in the New York, at the rate of $18,000 for the entire boat. Mr. Haslett has taken charge of the office, relieving Captain Richardson, who returned to Pittsburgh on last night's train. The Messenger, for New Orleans, was full of people and freight. The Emma Floyd reshipped 176 bales of cotton on the Kate Putnam for Pittsburgh. Capt. John Hanna, of Pittsburgh, was in the city yesterday. He expects to remove here in June next, being engaged in the lumber business in this city. He is one of our oldest commanders, and a reliable gentleman. Mr. Cal. W. Bennett, Jr., is in the city, Capt. J. A. Beares has taken charge of the office of the Kate Robinson.
